Truman Complains Congress Trims Down Control Program

Amendments Threat To Proposed Price-Pay Curbs, President Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—President Truman said today that Congress is whittling down the control powers he has asked to fight inflation.

At the same time, Mr. Truman said, proposed price and wage controls are threatened with amendments which would "hamper administration should it become necessary to invoke them."

Writing Vice President Barkley, the President criticized Congress for dropping control of commodity speculation from both House and Senate bills.

He complained also of elimintion of control over credit on existing housing.

Mr. Truman intervened in the Senate's consideration of a bill which is designed to give him discretion to invoke broad price-wage-rationing controls, as well as a number of production and credit provisions which he requested last July 19.

Similar Bill Passed House

A similar bill has passed the House.

Mr. Truman contends that the powers he specifically urged are all that he needs right now to keep the economy on an even keel while expanding preparedness.

He said that while it would be "useful" to have stand-by powers to deal with prices and wages many proposed amendments are "inflexible patchwork price controls" which would be " a dangerous reception."

He expressed hope the Senate will "reject the numerous special-purpose amendments proposed for the price control provisions of the bill." He strongly urged that it approve "the full range of powers" he first recommended as the aftermath of the Korean war.

Powers Sought By Truman

The authority sought by Mr. Truman included allocation and priorities necessary to channel facilities and materials into military and essential uses, to finance increased production capacity and a large supply of materials, and to control installment buying and other consumer and real estate credit, together with power to curb speculation in commodities.

Before consideration of these powers got under way, Congress echoed with cries for all-out controls on a standby basis, even though the President did not ask them.

So while trimming some of the presidential requests, both houses whipped up bills to add the more drastic wage-price-rationing controls. Now the President complains that some pending proposals for such controls would be unworkable.

Anti-Inflation Steps Are Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The government made two major moves tonight to prevent inflation as a result of its stepped up defense drive.

1. The Federal Reserve Board approved a rise in the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 1½ per cent to 1¾ per cent. This is intended to restrict bank credit.

2. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced that insurance companies, savings banks and other "institutional" investors may buy up to $1,100,000 worth of series F and G government bonds this year. The former limit was $100,000.

The discount rate is important in curbing inflation. When a federal reserve member bank lends out money on a note, it can take the note to a federal reserve bank and get its money, less a sum which is known as the discount rate. When this rate goes up, bank loans tend to be restricted.

Hospital Ship Offered

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 18 (AP)—Denmark today offered the United Nations the 13,164-ton hospital ship Jutlandia, fully equipped and staffed with doctors and nurses, for use in the Korean war sometime in November.

Farouk Will Wed Egyptian Beauty Early Next Year

DEAUVILLE, France, Aug. 18 (AP)—King Farouk I will marry Narriman Sadek, 16-year-old Egyptian beauty, in Egypt next spring, one of the visiting monarch's aides said tonight.

Karim Thabet Pasha, press counselor of the royal palace in Cairo, told newsmen there is no question of a marriage ceremony in France. He explained the King would be married only in Egypt.

The press counselor made his statement while the King stood only a few yards away but out of earshot.

There had been much speculation that the 30-year-old monarch, who is on a 10-day vacation here, and Miss Sadek might wed at this resort city.

The King met Miss Sadek in Cairo last November. Reliable sources outside Egypt's strict censorship reported that the girl's engagement to Mohammed Zaki Hashem, 27, a former United Nations economist, has been broken at the order of the King.

Since the meeting of the King and Miss Sadek, many rumors have swirled about them, only to be met with stony silence in official court circles. The Egyptian beauty was last seen at St. Mortiz, Switzerland, two days ago.

Jap Government Aligns Self With U.N. Korea Effort

Defense Measure, White Paper Says

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 19. (AP)—The Japanese government today aligned itself with the United Nations' effort in Korea and the western democracies in the world ideological struggle.

"To cooperate with the democracies and assist in strengthening their unit should be considered as nothing less than a measure for our own self defense," the paper stated.

Invitation To U. N.

This was the first formal government statement of policy. It coincided with statements supporting the Allies which have been made in the past by political and industrial leaders.

The exhaustive review of the Korean situation did not specifically state how Japan proposed to assist. It appeared in some respects to be an invitation for a United Nations request to do so.

The statement urged all Japanese to help prevent acts of sabotage. It specifically labelled Japan's past leftist-led "political demonstrations, strikes and other incidents" as part of the worldwide communist struggle.

No Room For Neutrality

"In our country, which is a vital outpost for the United Nations' forces, acts of sabotage resorted to by Japanese communists sporadically at present are likely to assume an organized form as time goes on," the paper stated.

"It certainly would not be wise to leave the control of such acts only to the police. It is the duty of every one of us to do our part and thereby preserve our national security."

It told the Japanese that "there is no room for 'non-involvement' or 'neutrality'" — two viewpoints which have been proclaimed loudly here by an influential minority.

Two Killed In Crash Of Training Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (INS)—A pilot and crew chief were killed today and a passenger was seriously injured when a C-45 Beechcraft trainer crashed in a tobacco field near Andrews Air Force Base.

The survivor said an engine burst into flames shortly after the plane left Bolling Air Force Base for Norfolk, Va. He said the plane caught fire after the crash and he escaped by kicking a door open.

U. S. "Murders" GIs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) told the Senate today that this country is "murdering" American boys by putting them in combat in Korea without adequate training.

Smith Named Intelligence System Head

Shakeup Demands Bring Appointment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) —Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, a fighting Hoosier with few illusions about the Russians, was named by President Truman today as director of the nation's Central Intelligence system.

Smith, 54, known to military associates as "Beetle" and dubbed "the Bulldog" by Winston Churchill, was U. S. ambassador to Moscow from 1946 to 1949 and was chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during World War II.

The White House announced that Smith will succeed Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter late next month.

Shakeup Demanded

The appointment followed recent demands in Congress for a shakeup in the agency as an outgrowth of the Korean war. Some legislators have contended that U. S. intelligence was caught flat-footed by the Communist invasion of South Korea on June 25.

However, Hillenkoetter testified before a Senate committee on June 26 that American agents knew the North Koreans were massing tanks and troops along the South Korean border as long as a year ago, but that it was impossible to predict the "zero hour."

Lawmakers said after listening to Hillenkoetter they were satisfied U. S. intelligence was not caught napping.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen that Hillenkoetter has been "trying for months to get back to sea duty." He will take command of a cruiser division when he leaves the Central Intelligence Agency post.

Knows Stalin Well

The CIA is the clearing house for all U. S. intelligence activities. It screens reports from diplomatic, military and all other sources to safeguard the nation's security against surprise attack. The agency was set up in 1947.

Known as a human dynamo, tough, caustic and tireless, Smith spent three years in Moscow and learned to know Premier Stalin well. When he resigned as ambassador last year, he wrote a book declaring that most Communist statesmen seem convinced that the United States and Russia would eventually go to war.

Rail-Union Talks May Be Resumed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The White House held out hope tonight for a meeting tomorrow of railroad and union negotiators in the threatened nationwide rail strike.

Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, said that Presidential Assistant John R. Steel may be able to get both sides back into a conference.

Already a series of five-day "token" strikes is scheduled for next week, and Steelman was working against the clock to prevent further spread of walkouts.

Ayers said Steelman met with two representatives of the trainmen and conductors unions for two hours and asked them to return before noon tomorrow. Ayers added:

"He may have representatives of the carriers to meet with the union representatives. He is trying to find a basis for getting the two groups together for further negotiations around the same table." Ayers would not elaborate on the prospects for this.

The trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors are seeking a 40-hour week with no loss in their present 48-hour week paychecks, along with other increases in wage scales.

McKellar-Cannon Quarrel Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A violent quarrel between Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) reportedly developed at a closed door session of senators and House members trying to settle differences over a $34,000,000,000 general government appropriations bill.

Other lawmakers reported that McKellar exploded verbally and made threatening gestures with a gavel when Cannon intimated that a Senate proposal on rivers and harbors might have been drafted by the Army engineers. Cannon has been critical of the engineers.

Cannon was reported to have told McKellar that he had taken about all he could of such tactics.

Upside Down World Rights (Or Does It?) For Student

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Fred Snyder, who has been looking at the world upside down for 30 days, saw it right side up tonight—and it didn't look any better, he said.

"Look at those headlines," he exclaimed. "I might as well put the glasses back on. Let's face it. The world is topsy turvy any way you look at it."

Snyder, a 25-year-old former soldier, is a graduate student at Wichita University. He performed the upside-down experiment as research toward a Ph. D.

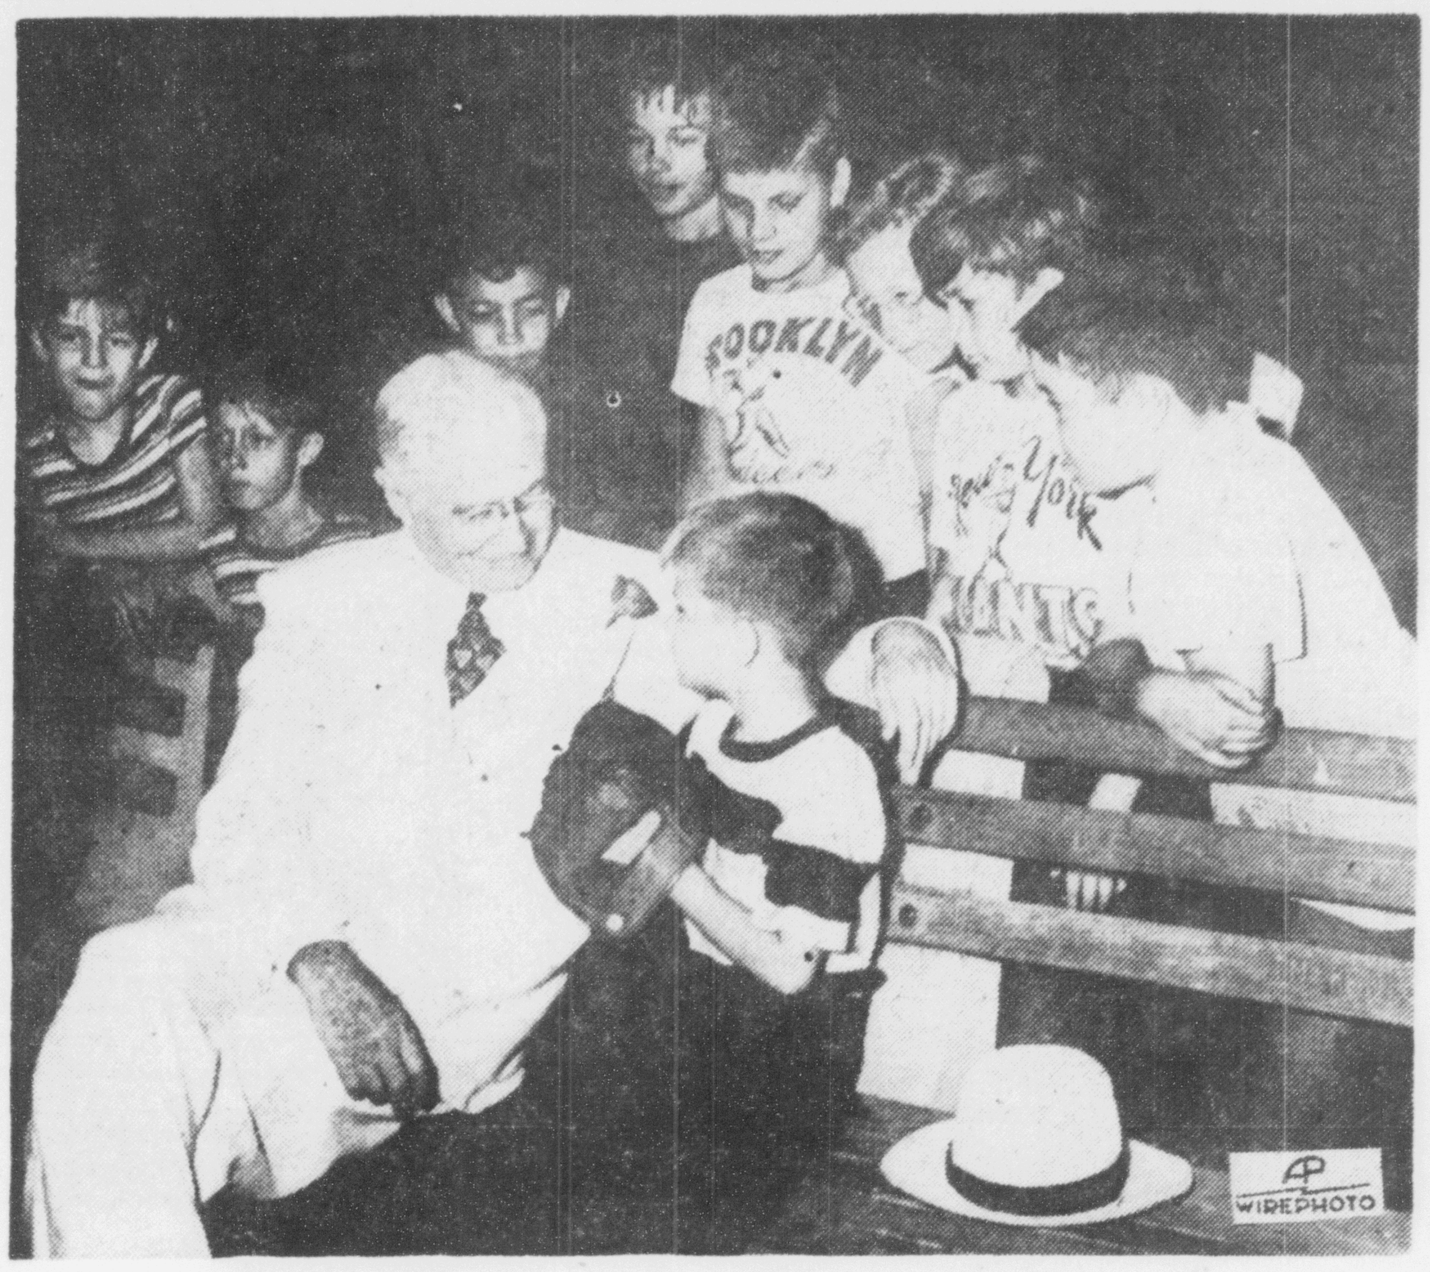
Snyder blinked and swayed.

"It's confusing," he said. "Everything is right side up, but things move in funny directions. Everything swims back and forth.

"Normal vision doesn't seem normal."



Still Going To The "Office"

Bernard M. Baruch, who has called a park bench his "office" for many years, chats with nine-year-old James Kupres, of New York City, on a bench in Central Park yesterday. Members of Jimmy's baseball team listen in. Earlier, in ceremonies at the bench, the elder statesman, who will be 80 years old today, was given a certificate by Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr., naming him an honorary commissioner of borough works.

Commerce Dept. Curbs Exports To Red Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The United States tightened controls over exports to Russia and her satellites today, and dock workers in New York refused to unload Russian furs arriving on the British liner Mauretania.

The men also voted not to handle any goods from Russia in the future.

1,100 Controlled Items

Here in the nation's capital, the Commerce Department clamped down controls on a list of 1,000 so-called "war potential" items to Russia and 13 other nations in the Soviet bloc. The order is effective immediately.

Up to now, exports of all U. S. goods have been permitted without individual licenses if the value of the shipments was small enough. The limits ranged from $1 to $1,000, depending on the type of goods.

Under the new order, shipments of the controlled items must be licensed no matter how small the amounts.

The countries affected are Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, the Russian zone of Germany, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Manchuria, North Korea, Poland (and Danzig), Romania and the U.S.S.R.

Small Lot Shipments

Officials said controlled goods are going to those countries only in small lots. They said the action will not have a particularly heavy impact, but does constitute a general tightening of export controls.

In New York, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, Local 824, shook their heads when asked to unload $138,000 worth of Russian furs from the liner Mauretania.

Other union members had refused earlier to unload shipments of Russian crabmeat from British ships, forcing the shipments to be returned to England.

Radar Expert Nabbed As Spy Ring Suspect

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 18 (AP)—Morton Sobell, American radar expert who fled to Mexico when the FBI began nabbing suspects in the Klaus Fuchs spy ring, was arrested here today. He is charged with passing defense secrets to Russia.

Apparently the arrest took place in a pre-dawn rendzevous between Mexican and United States officers along the border. The FBI surrounded the arrest with extraordinary secrecy. Agents would not say where, when or how Sobell was arrested.

Sobell was booked in the Webb County jail.

The stocky 33-year-old electrical engineer made no plea. He waived removal proceedings and indicated he wanted to be returned to New York, his home, as soon as posible.

U.N. Begins Moving

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—The United Nations Secretariat today began moving from its Long Island headquarters at Lake Success to its new skyscraper home on Manhattan's East Side.

Head Of Belgian Communist Party Is Assassinated

When the 65-year-old veteran communist opened the door, the assassins fired four times, one bullet finding its mark in Lahaut's head and three others in his body.

Senators Urge Peace Crusade

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Twenty-eight senators called on President Truman today to urge a new and all-out crusade to convince the Russian people that America wants peace.

They proposed "total mobilization and total engagement of our psychological and spiritual forces" for the peace offensive against the Kremlin.

The bi-partisan group, led by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), presented to Mr. Truman a letter which called for expansion of "the Voice of America" and other government information facilities.

"But," they wrote, "more than money we need a new vigor, a new imagination, a new directness and plainness of speech. We need the message to be continuously, indefinitely reiterated. We need to use means new and old, thought of an unthought of, traditional and revolutionary."

The letter said the program the senators had in mind might "soften and erode the foundations of the politburo, escape the appalling expenditure of life and treasure with which we are faced, and thus escape the totalitarian control of our lives which neither you, we nor the American people can contemplate without dismay."

"Let us tell the Russian people that we want to live in peace with them and hope that their rulers will not compel us to fight them. We would like to help them to get a better life from their rich soil, forests and mines."

Flanders said the President expressed complete sympathy with the proposal.

"Seoul City Sue" Silenced By Annoyed Yank Airmen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Details of the silencing of "Seoul City Sue" by an American bomber crew one night this week were related in a recorded broadcast from Tokyo tonight.

Maj. Wes McPheron gave details of the previously disclosed incident in a broadcast.

He said that Lt. Bud Galligher, Kohonson, N. Y., was annoyed by propaganda poured out in English by a feminine voice from the radio station at communist - held Seoul.

McPheron said that "Seoul City Sue" will never make the Hooper ratings, even if she gets back on the air. He said there is no music on her program, just propaganda.

Offer Of 4,500 Turkish Troops Accepted By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Turkey's offer of 4,500 troops to fight alongside Americans in Korea was accepted today by a "deeply gratified" United States.

Turkey, bordering Russia and militarily aided by the U. S. in protecting her territory, was the third nation whose offer of a combat force has been accepted formally; all of them this week.

The first was Thailand's 4,000 officers and men, and next was the Philippines' regimental team of about 5,000.

In addition, the State Department announced today the U. S. has "accepted in principle" British, New Zealand and Australian proffers of ground troops. Details remain to be completed. All three have had warships on hand almost from the war's start, plus an Australian air squadron.

On Capitol Hill, Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Illinois) counted 13 United Nations which have tendered direct military aid against communist aggression in Korea. Seven of them included troops. Aid in other forms was offered by five more, his statement noted.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, said talks were under way in Ankara on how and when to send the Turkisr combat force.

The Turkish offer was announced July 26, but McDermott told reporters that a lot of discussion was necessary before final acceptance. It was made to the U. N., under whose banner the war is waged. It was referred to the United States for consideration. The U. N. has authorized the U. S. to accept all troop offers in the Korea campaign.

Rescue Ships Steam To Aid Of Freighter

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18 (AP) —Three rescue ships steamed tonight to the aid of a 7,247-ton freighter which caught fire while battling winds and seas of a hurricane off Florida's east coast.

While the drama of the sea developed, the hurricane moved steadily north-northwestward at its eight to ten mile pace and at 4:45 p. m. was centered about 320 miles east of Titusville.

Enemy Forced Back On West, North Fronts

Defenders Hold Firm Elsewhere

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 19 (AP) — Toughening American and South Korean forces hurled back two red smashes at Taegu, gained ground in the north and held firm elsewhere in a dramatic turn for the better all along the Korean warfront Friday.

The dawn had broken on what many had feared would be black Friday for the defenders. Instead, by nightfall:

Two South Korean divisions with the American 27th Regiment blocked thrusts by 30,000 North Koreans 12 miles north of the key forward base of Taegu and won back half to all of the three miles they had lost Thursday.

This was the scene of the "present main enemy effort," Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said in a summary early today.

It was not clear whether the gains made Friday by South Korean forces had included the recapture of Kumhwa, the highway town 12 miles north of Taegu. Kumhwa fell to the reds Thursday.

Reds Get "Hell Of Licking"

The U. S. Marine First Brigade and the Army 24th Infantry Division simultaneously gave what the 24th commanding general called "a hell of a licking" to the North Korean Fourth Division in its 12,000-man bridgehead east of the Naktong River near Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

The marines and the 24th Division made a three-mile dent in the Changnyong bulge, virtually halving it, in 36 hours of ferocious fighting.

Associated Press Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters that the American success in the Changnyong area was deemed a signal victory.

The Marine attack sent the enemy's southern flank reeling into the path of the 24th Division, which heavily engaged it.

The Americans hit the crack red Fourth Division so hard that many of the red troops dropped their guns and fled west across the river.

Maj. Gen. John H. Church, commander of the 24th and of the combined marine-infantry attack, said the blow may have ended the fighting days of the red Korean division.

Pohang Is Retaken

"I think everything has gone very well," said the General. "He (the enemy) certainly has taken a hell of a licking. That's certain. I don't think that division will do much fighting for a while.

"What I'd like to do is destroy that division entirely."

Americans and South Koreans manning the thinly held northern front retook Pohang, secondary American supply port on the east coast, and Kigye, 10 miles inland, then captured high ground north of Kigye to make their defense line more cohesive.

Correspondent Eric son sent word from Eighth Army headquarters at 7:20 a. m. (4:20 p. m., Friday E.S.T.) that the enemy appeared to be withdrawing from the Kigye-Pohang sector. An Army spokesman told Erickson that Kigye was securely in United Nations hands.

The U. N. defense perimeter was generally quiet throughout Friday night, he said.

Army Engineer Officers Called

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Army doubled its call for engineer officers today while the Marines stepped up recruiting efforts and listed reserves they are summoning to active duty.

The Army ordered 570 reserve captains and lieutenants in the Engineer Corps to report by Oct. 13. This is twice the number of engineer officers previously called and brings to 8,432 the number of officers in all branches of the service being restored to active duty.

The Marines asked for volunteers for its reserves. It wants them to enlist for an indefinite time, instead of the previous hitch of four years, and says it intends to put them on extended active duty. In effect, this would mean enlisting with the Marines for the duration.

In addition, the Marines cut from four to three years the enlistment period for Marine regulars.

The corps said all men now in the volunteer reserve with the rank of sergeant or under will be ordered to active duty. That means both aviation and ground reserves.

Weather Forecast

Anti-Inflation Steps Are Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The government made two major moves tonight to prevent inflation as a result of its stepped up defense drive.

1. The Federal Reserve Board approved a rise in the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 1½ per cent to 1¾ per cent. This is intended to restrict bank credit.

2. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder announced that insurance companies, savings banks and other "institutional" investors may buy up to $1,100,000 worth of series F and G government bonds this year. The former limit was $100,000.

The discount rate is important in curbing inflation. When a federal reserve member bank lends out money on a note, it can take the note to a federal reserve bank and get its money, less a sum which is known as the discount rate. When this rate goes up, bank loans tend to be restricted.

Jap Government Aligns Self With U.N. Korea Effort

Defense Measure, White Paper Says

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 19. (AP)—The Japanese government today aligned itself with the United Nations' effort in Korea and the western democracies in the world ideological struggle.

"To cooperate with the democracies and assist in strengthening their unit should be considered as nothing less than a measure for our own self defense," the paper stated.

Invitation To U. N.

This was the first formal government statement of policy. It coincided with statements supporting the Allies which have been made in the past by political and industrial leaders.

The exhaustive review of the Korean situation did not specifically state how Japan proposed to assist. It appeared in some respects to be an invitation for a United Nations request to do so.

The statement urged all Japanese to help prevent acts of sabotage. It specifically labelled Japan's past leftist-led "political demonstrations, strikes and other incidents" as part of the worldwide communist struggle.

No Room For Neutrality

"In our country, which is a vital outpost for the United Nations' forces, acts of sabotage resorted to by Japanese communists sporadically at present are likely to assume an organized form as time goes on," the paper stated.

"It certainly would not be wise to leave the control of such acts only to the police. It is the duty of every one of us to do our part and thereby preserve our national security."

It told the Japanese that "there is no room for 'non-involvement' or 'neutrality'" — two viewpoints which have been proclaimed loudly here by an influential minority.

Two Killed In Crash Of Training Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (INS)—A pilot and crew chief were killed today and a passenger was seriously injured when a C-45 Beechcraft trainer crashed in a tobacco field near Andrews Air Force Base.

The survivor said an engine burst into flames shortly after the plane left Bolling Air Force Base for Norfolk, Va. He said the plane caught fire after the crash and he escaped by kicking a door open.

U. S. "Murders" GIs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-Nev) told the Senate today that this country is "murdering" American boys by putting them in combat in Korea without adequate training.

Smith Named Intelligence System Head

Shakeup Demands Bring Appointment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) —Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, a fighting Hoosier with few illusions about the Russians, was named by President Truman today as director of the nation's Central Intelligence system.

Smith, 54, known to military associates as "Beetle" and dubbed "the Bulldog" by Winston Churchill, was U. S. ambassador to Moscow from 1946 to 1949 and was chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during World War II.

The White House announced that Smith will succeed Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter late next month.

Shakeup Demanded

The appointment followed recent demands in Congress for a shakeup in the agency as an outgrowth of the Korean war. Some legislators have contended that U. S. intelligence was caught flat-footed by the Communist invasion of South Korea on June 25.

However, Hillenkoetter testified before a Senate committee on June 26 that American agents knew the North Koreans were massing tanks and troops along the South Korean border as long as a year ago, but that it was impossible to predict the "zero hour."

Lawmakers said after listening to Hillenkoetter they were satisfied U. S. intelligence was not caught napping.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told newsmen that Hillenkoetter has been "trying for months to get back to sea duty." He will take command of a cruiser division when he leaves the Central Intelligence Agency post.

Knows Stalin Well

The CIA is the clearing house for all U. S. intelligence activities. It screens reports from diplomatic, military and all other sources to safeguard the nation's security against surprise attack. The agency was set up in 1947.

Known as a human dynamo, tough, caustic and tireless, Smith spent three years in Moscow and learned to know Premier Stalin well. When he resigned as ambassador last year, he wrote a book declaring that most Communist statesmen seem convinced that the United States and Russia would eventually go to war.

Rail-Union Talks May Be Resumed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The White House held out hope tonight for a meeting tomorrow of railroad and union negotiators in the threatened nationwide rail strike.

Eben Ayers, assistant press secretary, said that Presidential Assistant John R. Steel may be able to get both sides back into a conference.

Already a series of five-day "token" strikes is scheduled for next week, and Steelman was working against the clock to prevent further spread of walkouts.

Ayers said Steelman met with two representatives of the trainmen and conductors unions for two hours and asked them to return before noon tomorrow. Ayers added:

"He may have representatives of the carriers to meet with the union representatives. He is trying to find a basis for getting the two groups together for further negotiations around the same table." Ayers would not elaborate on the prospects for this.

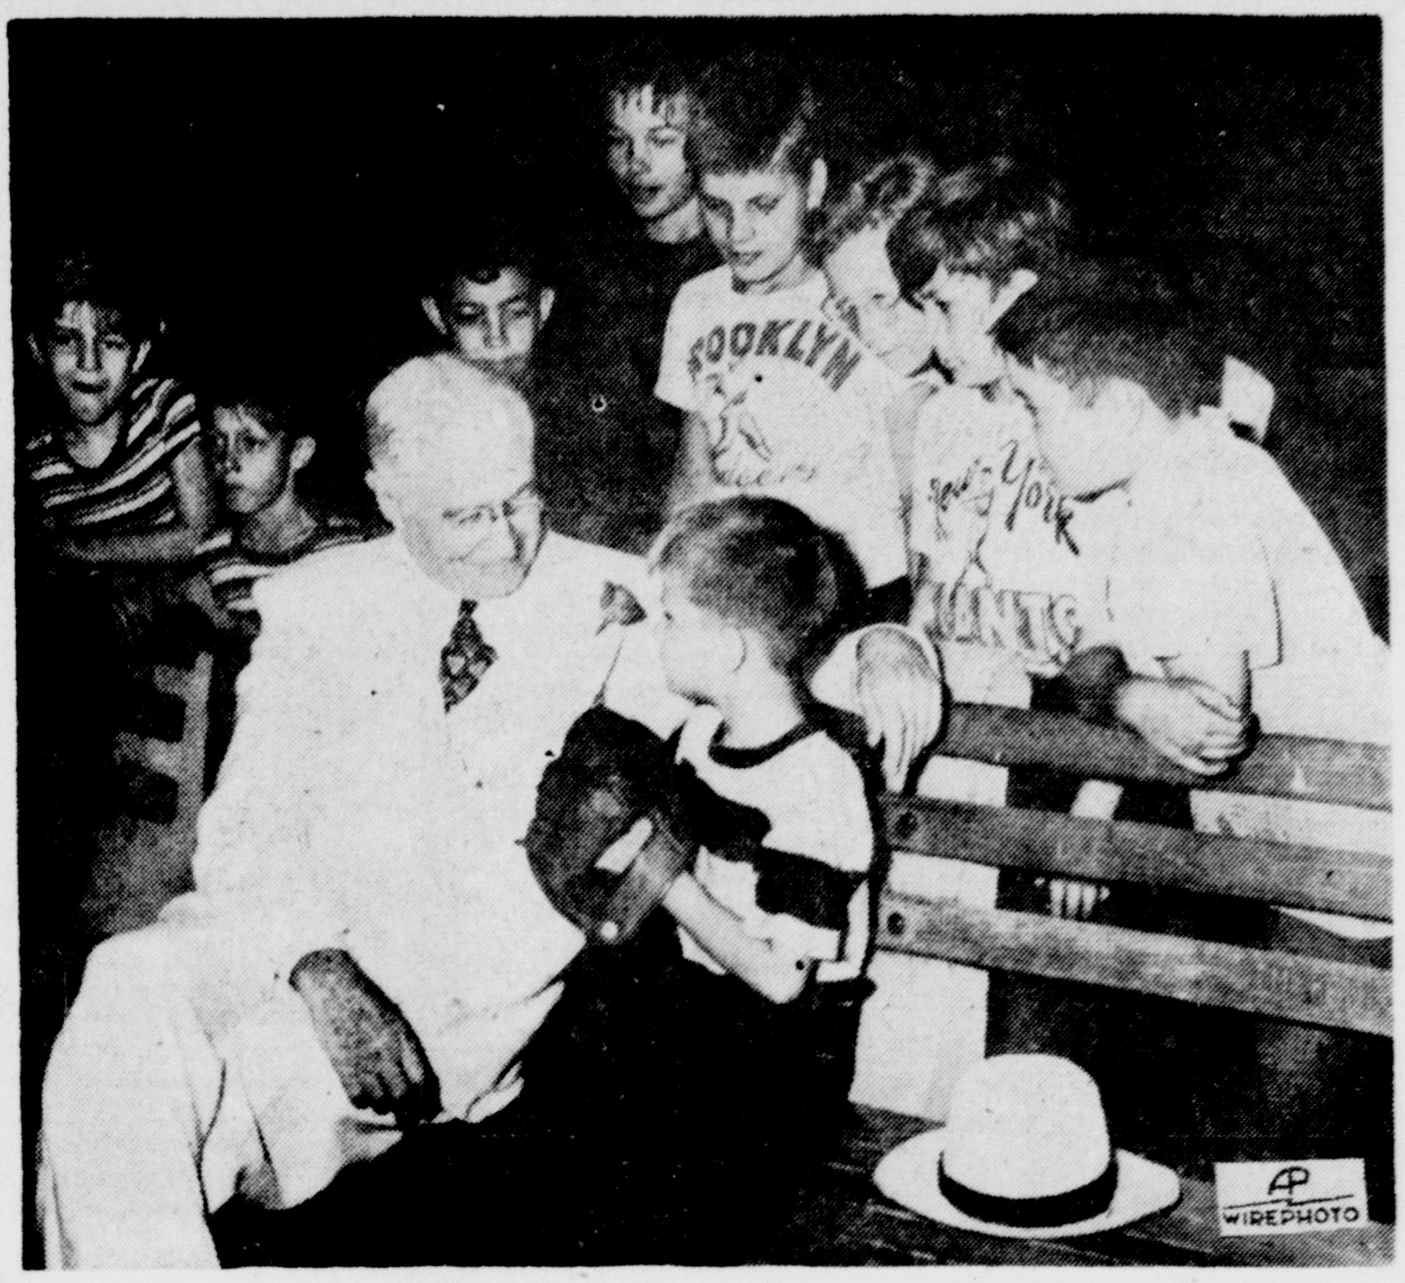
The trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors are seeking a 40-hour week with no loss in their present 48-hour week paychecks, along with other increases in wage scales.

McKellar-Cannon Quarrel Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A violent quarrel between Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) reportedly developed at a closed door session of senators and House members trying to settle differences over a $34,000,000,000 general government appropriations bill.

Other lawmakers reported that McKellar exploded verbally and made threatening gestures with a gavel when Cannon intimated that a Senate proposal on rivers and harbors might have been drafted by the Army engineers. Cannon has been critical of the engineers.

Cannon was reported to have told McKellar that he had taken about all he could of such tactics.



Still Going To The "Office"

Bernard M. Baruch, who has called a park bench his "office" for many years, chats with nine-year-old James Kupres, of New York City, on a bench in Central Park yesterday. Members of Jimmy's baseball team listen in. Earlier, in ceremonies at the bench, the elder statesman, who will be 80 years old today, was given a certificate by Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr., naming him an honorary commissioner of borough works.

Commerce Dept. Curbs Exports To Red Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—The United States tightened controls over exports to Russia and her satellites today, and dock workers in New York refused to unload Russian furs arriving on the British liner Mauretania.

The men also voted not to handle any goods from Russia in the future.

1,100 Controlled Items

Here in the nation's capital, the Commerce Department clamped down controls on a list of 1,000 so-called "war potential" items to Russia and 13 other nations in the Soviet bloc. The order is effective immediately.

Up to now, exports of all U. S. goods have been permitted without individual licenses if the value of the shipments was small enough. The limits ranged from $1 to $1,000, depending on the type of goods.

Under the new order, shipments of the controlled items must be licensed no matter how small the amounts.

The countries affected are Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, the Russian zone of Germany, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Manchuria, North Korea, Poland (and Danzig), Romania and the U.S.S.R.

Small Lot Shipments

Officials said controlled goods are going to those countries only in small lots. They said the action will not have a particularly heavy impact, but does constitute a general tightening of export controls.

In New York, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, Local 824, shook their heads when asked to unload $138,000 worth of Russian furs from the liner Mauretania.

Other union members had refused earlier to unload shipments of Russian crabmeat from British ships, forcing the shipments to be returned to England.

Radar Expert Nabbed As Spy Ring Suspect

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 18 (AP)—Morton Sobell, American radar expert who fled to Mexico when the FBI began nabbing suspects in the Klaus Fuchs spy ring, was arrested here today. He is charged with passing defense secrets to Russia.

Apparently the arrest took place in a pre-dawn rendzevous between Mexican and United States officers along the border. The FBI surrounded the arrest with extraordinary secrecy. Agents would not say where, when or how Sobell was arrested.

Sobell was booked in the Webb County jail.

The stocky 33-year-old electrical engineer made no plea. He waived removal proceedings and indicated he wanted to be returned to New York, his home, as soon as posible.

U.N. Begins Moving

Head Of Belgian Communist Party Is Assassinated

When the 65-year-old veteran communist opened the door, the assassins fired four times, one bullet finding its mark in Lahaut's head and three others in his body.

Senators Urge Peace Crusade

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Twenty-eight senators called on President Truman today to urge a new and all-out crusade to convince the Russian people that America wants peace.

They proposed "total mobilization and total engagement of our psychological and spiritual forces" for the peace offensive against the Kremlin.

The bi-partisan group. led by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), presented to Mr. Truman a letter which called for expansion of "the Voice of America" and other government information facilities.

"But," they wrote, "more than money we need a new vigor, a new imagination, a new directness and plainness of speech. We need the message to be continuously, indefinitely reiterated. We need to use means new and old, thought of an unthought of, traditional and revolutionary."

The letter said the program the senators had in mind might "soften and erode the foundations of the politburo. escape the appalling expenditure of life and treasure with which we are faced, and thus escape the totalitarian control of our lives which neither you, we nor the American people can contemplate without dismay."

"Let us tell the Russian people that we want to live in peace with them and hope that their rulers will not compel us to fight them. We would like to help them to get a better life from their rich soil, forests and mines."

Flanders said the President expressed complete sympathy with the proposal.

Offer Of 4,500 Turkish Troops Accepted By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Turkey's offer of 4,500 troops to fight alongside Americans in Korea was accepted today by a "deeply gratified" United States.

Turkey, bordering Russia and militarily aided by the U. S. in protecting her territory, was the third nation whose offer of a combat force has been accepted formally; all of them this week.

The first was Thailand's 4,000 officers and men, and next was the Philippines' regimental team of about 5,000.

In addition, the State Department announced today the U. S. has "accepted in principle" British, New Zealand and Australian proffers of ground troops. Details remain to be completed. All three have had warships on hand almost from the war's start, plus an Australian air squadron.

On Capitol Hill, Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Illinois) counted 13 United Nations which have tendered direct military aid against communist aggression in Korea. Seven of them included troops. Aid in other forms was offered by five more, his statement noted.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, said talks were under way in Ankara on how and when to send the Turkisr combat force.

The Turkish offer was announced July 26, but McDermott told reporters that a lot of discussion was necessary before final acceptance. It was made to the U. N., under whose banner the war is waged. It was referred to the United States for consideration. The U. N. has authorized the U. S. to accept all troop offers in the Korea campaign.

Rescue Ships Steam To Aid Of Freighter

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18 (AP) —Three rescue ships steamed tonight to the aid of a 7,247-ton freighter which caught fire while battling winds and seas of a hurricane off Florida's east coast.

While the drama of the sea developed, the hurricane moved steadily north-northwestward at its eight to ten mile pace and at 4:45 p. m. was centered about 320 miles east of Titusville.

"Seoul City Sue" Silenced By Annoyed Yank Airmen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Details of the silencing of "Seoul City Sue" by an American bomber crew one night this week were related in a recorded broadcast from Tokyo tonight.

He said that Lt. Bud Galligher, Kohonson, N. Y., was annoyed by propaganda poured out in English by a feminine voice from the radio station at communist - held Seoul.

McPheron said that "Seoul City Sue" will never make the Hooper ratings, even if she gets back on the air. He said there is no music on her program, just propaganda.

Enemy Forced Back On West, North Fronts

Defenders Hold Firm Elsewhere

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 19 (AP) — Toughening American and South Korean forces hurled back two red smashes at Taegu, gained ground in the north and held firm elsewhere in a dramatic turn for the better all along the Korean warfront Friday.

The dawn had broken on what many had feared would be black Friday for the defenders. Instead, by nightfall:

Two South Korean divisions with the American 27th Regiment blocked thrusts by 30,000 North Koreans 12 miles north of the key forward base of Taegu and won back half to all of the three miles they had lost Thursday.

This was the scene of the "present main enemy effort," Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said in a summary early today.

It was not clear whether the gains made Friday by South Korean forces had included the recapture of Kumhwa, the highway town 12 miles north of Taegu. Kumhwa fell to the reds Thursday.

Reds Get "Hell Of Licking"

The U. S. Marine First Brigade and the Army 24th Infantry Division simultaneously gave what the 24th commanding general called "a hell of a licking" to the North Korean Fourth Division in its 12,000-man bridgehead east of the Naktong River near Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

The marines and the 24th Division made a three-mile dent in the Changnyong bulge, virtually halving it, in 36 hours of ferocious fighting.

Associated Press Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters that the American success in the Changnyong area was deemed a signal victory.

The Marine attack sent the enemy's southern flank reeling into the path of the 24th Division, which heavily engaged it.

The Americans hit the crack red Fourth Division so hard that many of the red troops dropped their guns and fled west across the river.

Maj. Gen. John H. Church, commander of the 24th and of the combined marine-infantry attack, said the blow may have ended the fighting days of the red Korean division.

Pohang Is Retaken

"I think everything has gone very well," said the General. "He (the enemy) certainly has taken a hell of a licking. That's certain. I don't think that division will do much fighting for a while.

"What I'd like to do is destroy that division entirely."

Americans and South Koreans manning the thinly held northern front retook Pohang, secondary American supply port on the east coast, and Kigye, 10 miles inland, then captured high ground north of Kigye to make their defense line more cohesive.

Correspondent Erickson sent word from Eighth Army headquarters at 7:20 a. m. (4:20 p. m., Friday E.S.T.) that the enemy appeared to be withdrawing from the Kigye-Pohang sector. An Army spokesman told Erickson that Kigye was securely in United Nations hands.

The U. N. defense perimeter was generally quiet throughout Friday night, he said.

Army Engineer Officers Called

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Army doubled its call for engineer officers today while the Marines stepped up recruiting efforts and listed reserves they are summoning to active duty.

The Army ordered 570 reserve captains and lieutenants in the Engineer Corps to report by Oct. 13. This is twice the number of engineer officers previously called and brings to 8,432 the number of officers in all branches of the service being restored to active duty.

The Marines asked for volunteers for its reserves. It wants them to enlist for an indefinite time, instead of the previous hitch of four years, and says it intends to put them on extended active duty. In effect, this would mean enlisting with the Marines for the duration.

In addition, the Marines cut from four to three years the enlistment period for Marine regulars.

The corps said all men now in the volunteer reserve with the rank of sergeant or under will be ordered to active duty. That means both aviation and ground reserves.

Crime Muscling Into Business, Probers Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — Senate crime investigators reported today that prohibition era gangsters have taken over organized gambling and now are muscling into legal businesses on an increasig scale.

And Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said in a statement that rumors of tie-ins between gangsters and "national politicians," including members of Congress, will be investigated by the Senate Crime Committee.

Wiley is a member of this special committee, which was set up last spring to investigate organized crime.

The committee made a 10,000-word report today on what it has found so far, mainly in an inquiry into Florida gambling. The report said in every city it has checked there have been many similarities to the pattern in Miami and Miami Beach.

Organized criminals, the report said, are using "large sums" and "vicious methods" like violence, bribery and corruption of public officials not only in illegal activities but also to get into legitimate business. But it said there is reason to believe interstae crime can be wiped out, with Congress helping.

"Participation by gamblers of the underworld in political (Republican or Democratic) parties," Wiley said, "results in too foul a stench in the nostrils of the American people to tolerate."

"It is my intention and that of the committee," the Senator said, "to follow up on these rumors and reports of a tie-up between national politicians (yes, some few representatives and senators), crooked party leaders and individuals representing illegitimate pursuits."

City police are searching for a man who presents a very official looking check that isn't worth the paper it's written on. He cashed four of them for a total of $239.28 in Cumberland recently.

The wanted man usually presents the check in payment for a small purchase of merchandise. In Cumberland the purchases were all shoes. The checks were cashed last week but were not returned by the bank until today.

Bad Check Artist Sought By Police

City police are searching for a man who presents a very official looking check that isn't worth the paper it's written on. He cashed four of them for a total of $239.28 in Cumberland recently.

Detective Thomas J. See said the man endorses the checks as Morton Truwell. The four cashed here were drawn on the Public National Bank and Trust Company of New York, and are signed by "Julius Bortman," allegedly president of the Bortman Construction Company, Inc., New York.

The wanted man usually presents the check in payment for a small purchase of merchandise. In Cumberland the purchases were all shoes. The checks were cashed last week but were not returned by the bank until today.

The American Politburo Is A Dangerous Risk

Every loyal American, it is believed, will approve of the government's decision to call for the jailing of the 10 members of the "American Politburo." These 10 communist party leaders are out on bail pending further appeal of their conviction for criminal conspiracy to advocate and teach the violent overthrow of the American government. The eleventh, Eugene Dennis, is already serving sentence for contempt of Congress.

While approving the move, Americans are also entitled to feel misgivings. The right to bail is a traditional American right. Such rights, admittedly, can exist only up to the point where they seriously clash with American security.

But when that security is threatened, as it now is by the communist-supported aggression in Korea—there is always the temptation to go too far in restricting fundamental freedoms. What was done during World War II to loyal American-born descendants of Japanese forebears is a case in point.

These 10 men were convicted 10 months ago of specifications that included preparing to touch off violence against the United States during some future crisis. A crisis now exists.

The affidavit presented to the federal court by the United States attorney says that these 10 men since their conviction "have pursued and will continue to pursue a course of conduct and activity dangerous to the public welfare and national security of the United States." This affidavit was prepared after study of FBI reports on recent conduct of the defendants.

If these allegations can be sustained, it is genuinely dangerous to American security to leave these 10 men at large. American soldiers are now fighting a desperate holding action in Korea against the foreign power which, according to the verdict in their trial, these men serve. According to that verdict, they may reasonably be expected to unleash violence against the United States whenever Russia gives the word.

The case for taking them out of circulation at once is far stronger than the case against American-born Japanese ever was.

Russia's Next Move

The Moscow newspaper Pravda told its readers that the United States, under the pretense of trying to localize the Korean War, "is in fact carrying out ever newer and newer measures to expand aggression in the Far East." Whatever Pravda says is official: it has a motive behind it. What can the motive be in this case?

Anyone who has watched the shrinking of the area held by American forces knows that what the Russians call our "aggression" is not "expanding" but dwindling. The military picture in Korea is such that neither side expects American forces to hold much more territory even a month hence than is held now. The Kremlin must be expecting something else to happen soon that Pravda can point to as the fulfillment of its prediction.

Obviously the U. S. is not planning to start anything elsewhere in the Far East at this time. American forces have their hands full in Korea. But Pravda's prediction would make sense if Russia were planning to touch off new aggression in the Far East, and expected the U. S. to take military action against it. In that case Pravda could and would say that the United States was expanding the "aggression" started in Korea.

There is only one place in the Far East where aggression now would bring immediate military reaction by American forces, and that is Formosa. The U. S. Seventh Fleet is under orders to attack any amphibious expedition aimed at Formosa. Against aggression elsewhere in that area, the U. S. is hardly prepared to move.

Has Molotov finally wangled from Mao Tzetung the promise that the Chinese Reds will soon move against Formosa?

Former Alcoholics

Alcoholics Anonymous celebrated its fifteenth birthday this year by holding its first international convention. The organization began with three persons who proved that they were exceptions to the accepted general rule that a chronic drunkard never wants to get well. Today the organization has more than 96,000 members in 35 nations.

Alcoholics Anonymous has brought real hope for the first time to alcoholics and those who love them. Once alcoholism was regarded as nothing more than moral collapse—its victims regarded as simple, worthless drunkards. The pendulum swung the other way, and alcoholism came to be known as a disease. But medical science could not cure it; no matter how complete and prolonged the treatment or how positive the results seemed to be, it was all lost if the patient tasted liquor again. The AA added the wise observation that only a person who has been an alcoholic can understand the thinking of an alcoholic, and now it is known that the disease can be beaten.

Fifteen years ago there was not, in general public conception, such a thing as a former alcoholic. It was a failing for which there was supposed to be no end but the gutter and a drunkard's grave. Now there are nearly a hundred thousand recognized former alcoholics. We do move forward.

Business As Usual

The last place one would look for "business as usual"—things being what they are—is in the Defense Department.

Yet Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, who is chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, actually had to issue a warning to the civilian secretaries of the armed services to "be very careful" not to declare surplus things that might be needed to expand the nation's war machine.

Unbelievable as it may seem, the military had been plodding right along—Korea or no Korea—advertising plants and equipment for sale.

Senator Johnson's patience is much greater than that of most taxpayers. The information that the Defense Department's left hand was busily trying to unload things like alcohol and synthetic rubber plants, spare parts, and a hundred and one other things, while the right hand was frantically trying to rearm, seems incredible.

It would be interesting to know what ready explanation there was for such carryings on.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Dizzy Syndrome

THERE ARE certain areas on the neck or head which, when touched, will produce paralysis or unconsciousness. Jupitsu artists and Indian wrestlers are said to know where these spots are. But physicians are skeptical because they have never been able to detect them.

On the other hand, there is a nerve center on each side of the neck that plays a role in maintaining the blood pressure and speed of the heart beat. It is just below the angle of the jaw alongside the large artery (carotid) which carries blood to the head. Our Creator put these nerves there to maintain an even flow of blood to the brain regardless of our posture. Were it not for this structure most of us would feel wobbly on arising suddenly from a reclining or stooped position. In the circumstances the blood would rush from the head, causing dizziness and fainting. To overcome this difficulty the carotid sinus increases the blood pressure and pulse to compensate for the effects of gravity.

Some individuals possess an overly sensitive carotid sinus. When pressed upon or massaged with the fingers it becomes so stimulated that it slows the pulse, constricts arteries in the brain, or lowers the blood pressure. Now and then the heart stops completely and if the standstill lasts for 10 seconds or more, the victim becomes giddy. Should 20 or 30 seconds elapse the flow of blood to the brain decreases and fainting ensues.

Could it be that this is the area mentioned in the first paragraph? It is possible, especially if the subject whom the expert used to demonstrate his skill was an individual with a sensitive corotid sinus. This is logical, considering the experience of a colleague of mine. When he was a youth he fainted while wrestling with his brother. In the tussle, pressure had been applied to the left side of the neck and the next thing he knew his brother was standing over him trying desperately to revive him. He learned, after becoming a physician, that pressure of a tight shirt or rubbing the neck had the same effect. Obviously he had a hypersensitive carotid sinus.

• — • — •

Many men with this disturbance experience lightheadedness whenever pressure is applied in shaving the side of the neck. The classic example of the street car motorman was frequently cited by the late Soma Weiss. The motorman was about to lose his job because in heavy traffic he developed bouts of dizziness and fainting. Authorities suspected a psychological reason; perhaps he lost courage when confronted with heavy traffic. Fortunately the real cause was found before the day of dismissal. He always wore a high wing collar and as he turned his head from side to side in rush hours or reached to open the door the attacks appeared. His physician discovered that every time he moved his head his sharp collar irritated the carotid sinus. Permanent relief was obtained after a soft collar was suggested.

In most cases the condition subsides as soon as pressure is released. Drugs such as ephedrine and atropine help lessen sensitivity. In some instances surgery is required to remove the nerve tissues.

MORNING INDIGESTION

V. L. writes: I have indigestion every morning one-half hour after eating but not at any other time. What would you advise?

REPLY

Examination, because this symptom occurs in a variety of conditions. On the other hand it may not be serious. Perhaps you eat too rapidly or rush to the train right after breakfast.

• — • — •

GROUPED SYMPTOMS

G. T. writes: What causes a syndrome?

REPLY

A group of signs or symptoms appearing together is referred to as a syndrome. When the labyrinth of the ear is affected, for example, we refer to the combination of dizziness nausea, and ringing in the ears as Meniere's syndrome.

• — • — •

SLEEPING ON "TUMMY"

V. S. writes: Does placing the baby face down to sleep affect the shape of the head?

REPLY

Yes, but not as much as sleeping on his back. When babies consistently sleep on the "tummy" they generally turn the head to one side or the other.

• — • — •

LITTLE DANGER

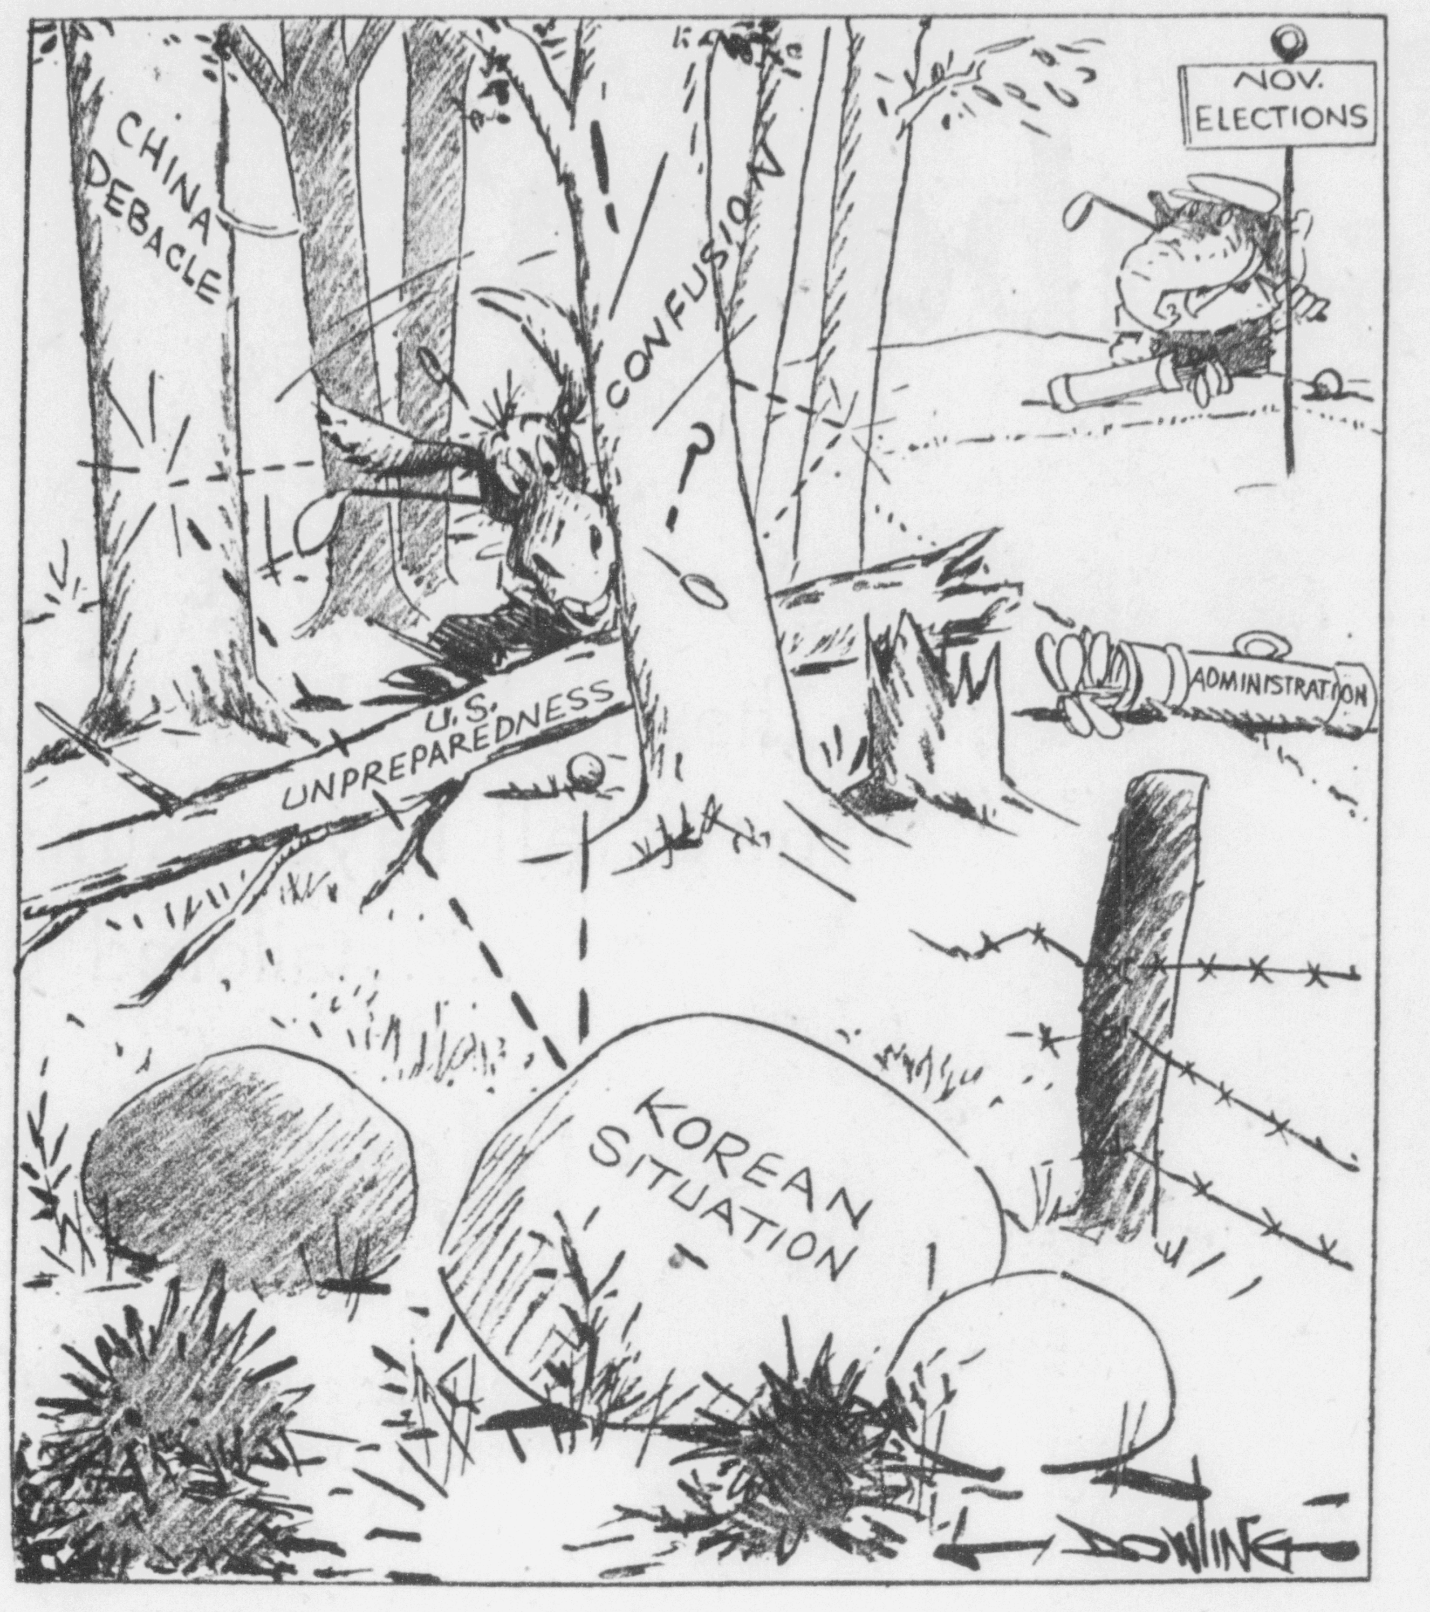
G. Z. writes: Is tuberculosis contagious eight feet away from a patient in a sanatorium?

REPLY

This distance should be safe but most patients in sanatoriums have been coached so well that you need not worry about becoming infected on your visits.

The usual rate of heart beat in a normal man is 70 to 75 beats a minute.

HIS OPPONENT SEEMS TO BE IN A LITTLE TROUBLE



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Federal Attorney Put On Grill; Ups-And-Downs In Senate Banking And Currency Committee; Steelman Says Seizure Won't Solve Rail Strike

Say JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff).

WASHINGTON—It's usually the district attorney who rips into the witness, but this role was reversed the other day for Washington's district attorney George Morris Fay. He got a rough 30-minute grilling at a closed-door meeting of the Senate "wire-tap" investigating committee.

At one point, West Virginia's Senator Matt Neely asserted that Fay was "under suspicion as much as Lieutenant Joe Shimon," the police officer who tapped Howard Hughes' telephones in 1947.

Neely was outraged by a statement that Fay had given to the press, claiming the grand jury's investigation of wire-tapping "was not a whitewash." Fay also had expressed the opinion the government could never make a case against Shimon "or anyone else."

"What motive could you have for throwing cold water on the investigation the Senate is making here?" demanded the West Virginia Senator.

"I had no intention of throwing any water on the investigation," stammered Fay.

"You could not help knowing that the effect of your statement was to discredit the investigation here," snorted Neely.

The uncomfortable D. A. admitted writing a letter of commendation on Oct. 7, 1947, praising Shimon for services of "inestimable value" to the District of Columbia. At that time, Shimon was attached to Fay's office and they became good friends. Yet Fay's office was largely responsible for prosecuting Shimon before the grand jury.

Daily Consultations

Though Fay didn't handle the wire-tapping case himself, he admitted to the senators that he had consulted "every day" with his assistants and that they actually advised the grand jury they "could not see where there had been divulgence." Under the law, the grand jury couldn't indict anyone for wire-tapping unless the overheard conversations were divulged.

"Do you think Lieut. Shimon would have tapped these wires, employed all these men to assist him and used this equipment without disclosing what he had overheard?" demanded Florida's Senator Claude Pepper.

"I think it was obvious that there are chances Shimon did divulge, but on the point of criminal indictment, we have to prove beyond reasonable doubt," explained Fay.

But it was Neely who gave the District Attorney the most scorching tongue-lashing.

"I think," Neely bristled, "that instead of your helping this committee to carry out its lawful function, I think you have greatly prejudiced this case.

"A man who will invade the rights of people by setting up wire-tapping devices and obtaining information about conversations that are none of his business, a man of that kind ought to be in jail," the West Virginian stormed.

"Anybody who aids or abets that sort of thing," he added, "ought to be behind bars . . . Before this investigation is done with, you will find out that we are going to have all the evidence in this case. With the exception of murder and treason, wire-tapping is the lowest form of outrage upon the American people."

Ups-and-Downs

Such was the confusion in a recent closed-door meeting of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on the question of controlling cotton prices that members literally didn't know up from down.

Trigg—"Perhaps it would help if I refer to it (the price of cotton) as a minimum ceiling and not a floor. It is a price we cannot go below."

Senator Bricker of Ohio—"But it is not a floor on the prices at all."

Trigg—"Yes, sir."

Senator Flanders—"And not the floor?"

Trigg—"That is correct."

Flanders—"That is all I need to know."

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas—"But that is not what he said a moment ago."

Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina, the committee chairman—"Well, I do not know what he said a moment ago, but that is what it is."

No Solution

In a last-minute appeal to avert a railroad strike, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman warned union and management spokesmen that government seizure of the railroads was not a "soultion" of the 17-month-old wage dispute.

"A strike is unthinkable in this terribly serious emergency and the government will not permit one," Steelman told the negotiators behind closed doors. "However, I want to remind you that if the government is forced to seize the railroads, we will not accept this as a solution."

Steelman added grimly:

"It is my business to help you settle your difficulties, but it is not the government's business to run the railroads. Somehow, somewhere, some day you're going to have to settle this yourselves."

Note — Steelman, who thinks nothing of working around the clock to prevent a strike, once made a 4 a. m. telephone appointment with a management disputant in a labor dispute.

Localized War

Presidential advisers say Truman is convinced that the Korean war is "localized"—in order words, Russia won't provoke an insurrection on any other front and risk an all-out war with the United States.

That is why he is insisting on only "standby" economic controls for the time being.

However, while he will be guided solely by military considerations in shaping our home-front economic policies, Truman isn't overlooking the political impact of the "controls" issue on the coming elections.

"It would be different if we needed permanent controls on everything at home to wage a prolonged war, but until that happens—and I do not foresee it now—standby controls are sufficient," Truman told a recent caller.

"If we invoked full controls and then it developed that they weren't necessary, the people would blame the Democratic administration—not the Republicans."

Headlines Tell Why U. S. Was Not Ready To Fight

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—Unwittingly the headlines in American newspapers in the last 48 hours have told why America hasn't been better prepared to fight the war in Korea.

The dramatic story of the mass flight of B-29's which dropped 850 tons of bombs over a 26-square-mile area in Korea was immediately given here the same kind of acceptance that has heretofore caused strategic bombing to dominate the whole American defense program.

It reads persuasively now, as it did to Congress these last four years. It appears now, as it did then, to many superficial observers to be the simple, inexpensive way to defeat an enemy—just drop tons upon tons of bombs from miles up, no matter where they hit and no matter how indiscriminate the operation necessarily must be from high altitudes—and there will not be much need of a ground army or a navy.

But this actual demonstration is being conducted at a time when the dispatches must necessarily tell what happened the next day. It is no disparagement of the B-29's or of the decision to send them on this mission to point out that this was a supplementary and psychological operation and by no means a primary role for the heavy bombers.

Terrorizing Effect

The B-29's undoubtedly had a terrorizing effect and probably were very much more useful in striking at army concentrations than in combing over the relatively few targets for strategic bombing operations in North Korea. Yet the mission must be judged by what its immediate and direct effects on enemy operations really were. The next day's dispatches from the United Press correspondent in the war zone said:

"The strength of the sudden communist push from the north indicated that the North Koreans may have shifted some of the four to six divisions they had massed on the west bank of the Naktong River northwest of Waegwan to the northern sector before American B-29's dropped 850 tons of bombs on the west bank yesterday.

"Reconnaissance planes which flew over the blasted and burning 26-square-mile target area northwest of Waegwan today could find no sign of the 40,000 to 60,000 troops believed there."

Then came from the Associated Press correspondent in the same zone a dispatch a little later telling of a drive by 30,000 North Koreans and adding:

"The communists poured out of the area hit by B-29 bombers west of the Naktong River. They jumped off from an area between Waegwan and Kunwi."

What this means, of course, is that high-level bombing did not disorganize the troops of the enemy or prevent them from realigning their divisions in time to make a concentrated attack the next day.

Low-Level Bombing Needed

Strategic bombers were never designed to do such a job. What the United States needed this week on the central Korean front was several units of low-level bombers, the kind that dive close to the target and really see what they are aiming at. These units, often called "tactical aviation," are very scarce nowadays in the United States Army because most of the money and the manpower has been used to develop a program of high-level bombing for use in Europe. The idea that planes could fly across oceans and attack with atom bombs was sold to the American people as an inexpensive substitute for almost everything else, though top-level commanders will deny they intended any such thing. Yet a rereading now of the publicity given strategic bombing these last few years will confirm the impression that the three armed services were not treated as coordinate branches and each given a chance to build up what it needed. That kind of autonomy was lost in the passion for "unification," which has turned out to be an allocation of most of the money to a single concept of strategy—the high-flying bombers of the U. S. Air Force—while the Navy was largely put aside and the Army was deprived of men and equipment, tanks and planes.

In the last 24 hours the American people were told that there has been moved across the Pacific by the Navy since the Korean invasion started a total of 40,000 American army, air force, marines and navy men, 2,000,000 barrels of petroleum, 1,500,000 tons of cargo. In addition a big navy carrier ferried across on its broad deck, 170 planes for the U. S. Air Force and, below deck, 1,000 air force personnel and 1,000 tons of necessary cargo.

The strategic bombers of the U. S. Air Force are vital, the army foot soldier is vital, tactical aviation is vital, the marines are vital, and the navy is vital. The wonder is that anyone in top command—civilian or military—was ever able to say that navies were obsolete, carriers should not be modernized because they

Change In Truman Policy Needed To Use Controls

By MARK SULLIVAN

PRESIDENT Truman will shortly have authority to impose several controls on the country's economy. The authority, as contemplated in discussion in Congress, is to be discretionary. After Mr. Truman gets it, the important thing will be what ones of the controls he chooses to exercise.

Two of the proposed controls are to be over wages and over prices, including prices of food. To control these, in the sense of preventing further rise in them, would run counter to two groups, labor and farmers. These two have had, during the Truman administration, an extraordinary position in the country's economy and in politics. They were the main reliance to whom Mr. Truman appealed in his 1948 campaign for the Presidency, and they have had corresponding deference from his Administration.

Deference Outstanding

This deference was an outstanding part of the picture of the country, as a country and as an economy, at the moment when sudden and utmost strain was put upon it, almost its very capacity to survive challenged, by the outbreak of war in Korea. On that fateful June 25 were two conditions which, both symbolically and actually, went to the heart of the administration of the country's economy and government. If any future historian should write an account of the country's economy as it was during early June—Russian communism hopes the account would be an obituary—he could reasonably stress these two conditions as symbolic.

In North Carolina and elsewhere in the South, where the early crop of potatoes was ready for picking, an immense agency of the Federal government, the Department of Agriculture, was buying millions of bushels—photographs of government-bought potatoes piled in heaps were printed in the June 21 issue of "The Observer" of Raleigh, N. C. The potatoes were bought at prices fixed artificially high by the government, for the purpose of keeping up the price received by farmers and paid by consumers.

To that distortion of the country's economy through deference by government to a group as distinguished from the common interest of all, a companion picture was an exercise of power by organized labor. A strike by railroad workers, after several weeks of unsuccessful negotiations, took effect on the day of the Korean outbreak and for more than a week, during which mobilization of the country's economy for war was urgent, suspended traffic on four western railroads.

Must Turn About

If President Truman is to exercise effectively and justly the authority for controls he is about to be given, he will need to set his face against the two groups to which in the past he has paid deference. The picture as it was on June 25 continues to the present time. The government is still buying food in order to hold it off the market and support prices. Within organized labor, important unions make demands for higher wages with threats of strike to enforce them. During the past 10 days there have been local strikes which crippled public transportation.

Mr. Truman will need to go counter not only to groups to which formerly he has paid deference and from which he has solicited and received political support but he will need to go counter also to an economic theory he has proclaimed. Seven weeks before the Korean crisis, in a speech at Pendleton, Ore., May 10, Mr. Truman exulted over an increase of $100,000,000,00 in the total national income during the past 10 years and set up as a "goal" an increase of another $100,000,000,000 during the next 10 years. A President thus committed to the increase of the national income for the sake of increase will find it embarrassing now to resist increase of prices paid to farmers for their crops and increase of wages to labor.

Besides, regardless of the war and from the broadcast viewpoint, Mr. Truman needs to settle with the country's savers, greater in number than labor and farmers combined. Persons who have savings in bonds, life insurance policies and the like, have seen the purchasing power of their saved dollars practically cut in half during the 10 years of increase in the national income which Mr. Truman exulted over. The effect of past policies of the Truman administration on savings as savings and on thrift as an economic virtue, has been itself a threat to the country's economy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Complacency

I HAVE received a letter from an officer in the Navy during World War II which contains this paragraph:

". . . I think your remarks about the failure of reserve officers to volunteer were too emotional, ill-considered and unfair. If, as our government tells us, this is only a border skirmish, why should we give up, temporarily, what we have tried so hard to re-establish—some degree of personal civilian living that has been denied us to a great degree by those who told us immediately, 'Come down out of the clouds—the war is over.'

"Mind you; I don't say you are not right. I'm only attempting to get you to see that indecision, uncertainty, and confusion among those officers you expect to jump into the front ranks is not necessarily the fault of the individuals themselves. It is, first and foremost, the abject failure of our leaders to declare this crusade for what it is .. . ."

This officer is correct. The administration was as inadequately prepared in its public relations as it was in its diplomacy and its supply for World War III. It rejected the concept of World War III, and, having rejected it, when it actually arrived, Mr. Truman, Mr. Acheson and the others who must speak to the people, did not know what words to use.

Perhaps the best way to answer this lieutenant commander is to say to him that the United States is worth much more than a parcel of politicians.

After all, Mr. Harry Truman is not the United States of America; he is only its president, and presidents come and go. There was once a president called Chester A. Arthur and the United States survived.

In a word, our country is bigger and more important than any man in it, and our civilization is still greater. Both are imperilled at this moment; our country more than ever in its history.

This Korean episode of World War III is the fourth big push of the Slavo-Mongolian hordes against the United States, as the primary country of the Western world. The first big push was the conquest of China by Soviet Russia. This did not involve a great effort as Soviet Russia was assisted by the State Department. Twice they had attempted to destroy American prestige in Europe by pushing us out of Berlin. Twice they failed.

Had the China job not been so easy, it is possible that Soviet Russia would not have gone into Korea. A country that permits itself to be pushed around cannot lead the world. Although Dean Acheson did not understand that, Harry Truman did. That is why he moved so quickly in the Korean situation, although he was unprepared for it.

But there is much more to this. If we get pushed out of Korea, all the Asiatic countries, following their historic characteristics, will say that Stalin is the satrap and they will turn on us with such savagery as we can hardly imagine. You might say that they could never come here. Well, maybe that is so, but they could overrun Europe, all the 800,000,000 of them. They could leave us an island in a Slavo-Mongolian world.

There is the issue and anyone can take it from there. I recall that when Hitler went to war, anyone suggesting that this country had better stay out of a fight between two vicious, malevolent, imperialistic dictators was called an isolationist and was smeared almost as though he were a traitor. Some of the finest Americans, such as Charles Lindbergh, were so abused as isolationists, which was made a bad word.

Today, one of those dictators is out of the way and the other is engaged in isolating us. He may succeed. He certainly will succeed if our people do not quickly recognize that we are not warring against Korea and Koreans but against Russia and Russians. He certainly will succeed unless this country gets down to the business of preserving itself.

It really makes little difference whether Harry Truman is elected or defeated, or whether in 1950 we get a Democratic or a Republican congress. It is too late for that kind of small stuff, which seems to preoccupy Mr. Truman. We have a major war on our hands and now is the time for all true men to come to the aid of their country.

The American Politburo Is A Dangerous Risk

Every loyal American, it is believed, will approve of the government's decision to call for the jailing of the 10 members of the "American Politburo." These 10 communist party leaders are out on bail pending further appeal of their conviction for criminal conspiracy to advocate and teach the violent overthrow of the American government. The eleventh, Eugene Dennis, is already serving sentence for contempt of Congress.

While approving the move, Americans are also entitled to feel misgivings. The right to bail is a traditional American right. Such rights, admittedly, can exist only up to the point where they seriously clash with American security.

But when that security is threatened, as it now is by the communist-supported aggression in Korea—there is always the temptation to go too far in restricting fundamental freedoms. What was done during World War II to loyal American-born descendants of Japanese forebears is a case in point.

These 10 men were convicted 10 months ago of specifications that included preparing to touch off violence against the United States during some future crisis. A crisis now exists.

The affidavit presented to the federal court by the United States attorney says that these 10 men since their conviction "have pursued and will continue to pursue a course of conduct and activity dangerous to the public welfare and national security of the United States." This affidavit was prepared after study of FBI reports on recent conduct of the defendants.

If these allegations can be sustained, it is genuinely dangerous to American security to leave these 10 men at large. American soldiers are now fighting a desperate holding action in Korea against the foreign power which, according to the verdict in their trial, these men serve. According to that verdict, they may reasonably be expected to unleash violence against the United States whenever Russia gives the word.

The case for taking them out of circulation at once is far stronger than the case against American-born Japanese ever was.

Russia's Next Move

The Moscow newspaper Pravda told its readers that the United States, under the pretense of trying to localize the Korean War, "is in fact carrying out ever newer and newer measures to expand aggression in the Far East." Whatever Pravda says is official: it has a motive behind it. What can the motive be in this case?

Anyone who has watched the shrinking of the area held by American forces knows that what the Russians call our "aggression" is not "expanding" but dwindling. The military picture in Korea is such that neither side expects American forces to hold much more territory even a month hence than is held now. The Kremlin must be expecting something else to happen soon that Pravda can point to as the fulfillment of its prediction.

Obviously the U. S. is not planning to start anything elsewhere in the Far East at this time. American forces have their hands full in Korea. But Pravda's prediction would make sense if Russia were planning to touch off new aggression in the Far East, and expected the U. S. to take military action against it. In that case Pravda could and would say that the United States was expanding the "aggression" started in Korea.

There is only one place in the Far East where aggression now would bring immediate military reaction by American forces, and that is Formosa. The U. S. Seventh Fleet is under orders to attack any amphibious expedition aimed at Formosa. Against aggression elsewhere in that area, the U. S. is hardly prepared to move.

Has Molotov finally wangled from Mao Tzetung the promise that the Chinese Reds will soon move against Formosa?

Former Alcoholics

Alcoholics Anonymous celebrated its fifteenth birthday this year by holding its first international convention. The organization began with three persons who proved that they were exceptions to the accepted general rule that a chronic drunkard never wants to get well. Today the organization has more than 96,000 members in 35 nations.

Alcoholics Anonymous has brought real hope for the first time to alcoholics and those who love them. Once alcoholism was regarded as nothing more than moral collapse—its victims regarded as simple, worthless drunkards. The pendulum swung the other way, and alcoholism came to be known as a disease. But medical science could not cure it; no matter how complete and prolonged the treatment or how positive the results seemed to be, it was all lost if the patient tasted liquor again. The AA added the wise observation that only a person who has been an alcoholic can understand the thinking of an alcoholic, and now it is known that the disease can be beaten.

Fifteen years ago there was not, in general public conception, such a thing as a former alcoholic. It was a failing for which there was supposed to be no end but the gutter and a drunkard's grave. Now there are nearly a hundred thousand recognized former alcoholics. We do move forward.

Business As Usual

The last place one would look for "business as usual"—things being what they are—is in the Defense Department.

Yet Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, who is chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, actually had to issue a warning to the civilian secretaries of the armed services to "be very careful" not to declare surplus things that might be needed to expand the nation's war machine.

Unbelievable as it may seem, the military had been plodding right along—Korea or no Korea—advertising plants and equipment for sale.

Senator Johnson's patience is much greater than that of most taxpayers. The information that the Defense Department's left hand was busily trying to unload things like alcohol and synthetic rubber plants, spare parts, and a hundred and one other things, while the right hand was frantically trying to rearm, seems incredible.

It would be interesting to know what ready explanation there was for such carryings on.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

A Dizzy Syndrome

THERE ARE certain areas on the neck or head which, when touched, will produce paralysis or unconsciousness. Jupitsu artists and Indian wrestlers are said to know where these spots are. But physicians are skeptical because they have never been able to detect them.

On the other hand, there is a nerve center on each side of the neck that plays a role in maintaining the blood pressure and speed of the heart beat. It is just below the angle of the jaw alongside the large artery (carotid) which carries blood to the head. Our Creator put these nerves there to maintain an even flow of blood to the brain regardless of our posture. Were it not for this structure most of us would feel wobbly on arising suddenly from a reclining or stooped position. In the circumstances the blood would rush from the head, causing dizziness and fainting. To overcome this difficulty the carotid sinus increases the blood pressure and pulse to compensate for the effects of gravity.

Some individuals possess an overly sensitive carotid sinus. When pressed upon or massaged with the fingers it becomes so stimulated that it slows the pulse, constricts arteries in the brain, or lowers the blood pressure. Now and then the heart stops completely and if the standstill lasts for 10 seconds or more, the victim becomes giddy. Should 20 or 30 seconds elapse the flow of blood to the brain decreases and fainting ensues.

Could it be that this is the area mentioned in the first paragraph? It is possible, especially if the subject whom the expert used to demonstrate his skill was an individual with a sensitive corotid sinus. This is logical, considering the experience of a colleague of mine. When he was a youth he fainted while wrestling with his brother. In the tussle, pressure had been applied to the left side of the neck and the next thing he knew his brother was standing over him trying desperately to revive him. He learned, after becoming a physician, that pressure of a tight shirt or rubbing the neck had the same effect. Obviously he had a hypersensitive carotid sinus.

• — • — •

Many men with this disturbance experience lightheadedness whenever pressure is applied in shaving the side of the neck. The classic example of the street car motorman was frequently cited by the late Soma Weiss. The motorman was about to lose his job because in heavy traffic he developed bouts of dizziness and fainting. Authorities suspected a psychological reason; perhaps he lost courage when confronted with heavy traffic. Fortunately the real cause was found before the day of dismissal. He always wore a high wing collar and as he turned his head from side to side in rush hours or reached to open the door the attacks appeared. His physician discovered that every time he moved his head his sharp collar irritated the carotid sinus. Permanent relief was obtained after a soft collar was suggested.

In most cases the condition subsides as soon as pressure is released. Drugs such as ephedrine and atropine help lessen sensitivity. In some instances surgery is required to remove the nerve tissues.

MORNING INDIGESTION

V. L. writes: I have indigestion every morning one-half hour after eating but not at any other time. What would you advise?

REPLY

Examination, because this symptom occurs in a variety of conditions. On the other hand it may not be serious. Perhaps you eat too rapidly or rush to the train right after breakfast.

• — • — •

GROUPED SYMPTOMS

G. T. writes: What causes a syndrome?

REPLY

A group of signs or symptoms appearing together is referred to as a syndrome. When the labyrinth of the ear is affected, for example, we refer to the combination of dizziness nausea, and ringing in the ears as Meniere's syndrome.

SLEEPING ON "TUMMY"

V. S. writes: Does placing the baby face down to sleep affect the shape of the head?

REPLY

Yes, but not as much as sleeping on his back. When babies consistently sleep on the "tummy" they generally turn the head to one side or the other.

LITTLE DANGER

G. Z. writes: Is tuberculosis contagious eight feet away from a patient in a sanatorium?

REPLY

This distance should be safe but most patients in sanatoriums have been coached so well that you need not worry about becoming infected on your visits.

The usual rate of heart beat in a normal man is 70 to 75 beats a minute.

HIS OPPONENT SEEMS TO BE IN A LITTLE TROUBLE

Federal Attorney Put On Grill; Ups-And-Downs In Senate Banking And Currency Committee; Steelman Says Seizure Won't Solve Rail Strike

Say JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff).

WASHINGTON—It's usually the district attorney who rips into the witness, but this role was reversed the other day for Washington's district attorney George Morris Fay. He got a rough 30-minute grilling at a closed-door meeting of the Senate "wire-tap" investigating committee.

At one point, West Virginia's Senator Matt Neely asserted that Fay was "under suspicion as much as Lieutenant Joe Shimon," the police officer who tapped Howard Hughes' telephones in 1947.

Neely was outraged by a statement that Fay had given to the press, claiming the grand jury's investigation of wire-tapping "was not a whitewash." Fay also had expressed the opinion the government could never make a case against Shimon "or anyone else."

"What motive could you have for throwing cold water on the investigation the Senate is making here?" demanded the West Virginia Senator.

"I had no intention of throwing any water on the investigation," stammered Fay.

"You could not help knowing that the effect of your statement was to discredit the investigation here," snorted Neely.

The uncomfortable D. A. admitted writing a letter of commendation on Oct. 7, 1947, praising Shimon for services of "inestimable value" to the District of Columbia. At that time, Shimon was attached to Fay's office and they became good friends. Yet Fay's office was largely responsible for prosecuting Shimon before the grand jury.

Daily Consultations

Though Fay didn't handle the wire-tapping case himself, he admitted to the senators that he had consulted "every day" with his assistants and that they actually advised the grand jury they "could not see where there had been divulgence." Under the law, the grand jury couldn't indict anyone for wire-tapping unless the overheard conversations were divulged.

"Do you think Lieut. Shimon would have tapped these wires, employed all these men to assist him and used this equipment without disclosing what he had overheard?" demanded Florida's Senator Claude Pepper.

"I think it was obvious that there are chances Shimon did divulge, but on the point of criminal indictment, we have to prove beyond reasonable doubt," explained Fay.

But it was Neely who gave the District Attorney the most scorching tongue-lashing.

"I think," Neely bristled, "that instead of your helping this committee to carry out its lawful function, I think you have greatly prejudiced this case.

"A man who will invade the rights of people by setting up wire-tapping devices and obtaining information about conversations that are none of his business, a man of that kind ought to be in jail," the West Virginian stormed.

"Anybody who aids or abets that sort of thing," he added, "ought to be behind bars . . . Before this investigation is done with, you will find out that we are going to have all the evidence in this case. With the exception of murder and treason, wire-tapping is the lowest form of outrage upon the American people."

Ups-and-Downs

Such was the confusion in a recent closed-door meeting of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on the question of controlling cotton prices that members literally didn't know up from down.

Trigg—"Perhaps it would help if I refer to it (the price of cotton) as a minimum ceiling and not a floor. It is a price we cannot go below."

Senator Bricker of Ohio—"But it is not a floor on the prices at all."

Trigg—"Yes, sir."

Senator Flanders—"And not the floor?"

Trigg—"That is correct."

Flanders—"That is all I need to know."

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas—"But that is not what he said a moment ago."

Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina, the committee chairman—"Well, I do not know what he said a moment ago, but that is what it is."

No Solution

In a last-minute appeal to avert a railroad strike, Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman warned union and management spokesmen that government seizure of the railroads was not a "soultion" of the 17-month-old wage dispute.

"A strike is unthinkable in this terribly serious emergency and the government will not permit one," Steelman told the negotiators behind closed doors. "However, I want to remind you that if the government is forced to seize the railroads, we will not accept this as a solution."

Steelman added grimly:

"It is my business to help you settle your difficulties, but it is not the government's business to run the railroads. Somehow, somewhere, some day you're going to have to settle this yourselves."

Note — Steelman, who thinks nothing of working around the clock to prevent a strike, once made a 4 a. m. telephone appointment with a management disputant in a labor dispute.

Localized War

Presidential advisers say Truman is convinced that the Korean war is "localized"—in order words. Russia won't provoke an insurrection on any other front and risk an all-out war with the United States.

That is why he is insisting on only "standby" economic controls for the time being.

However, while he will be guided solely by military considerations in shaping our home-front economic policies, Truman isn't overlooking the political impact of the "controls" issue on the coming elections.

"It would be different if we needed permanent controls on everything at home to wage a prolonged war, but until that happens—and I do not foresee it now—standby controls are sufficient," Truman told a recent caller.

"If we invoked full controls and then it developed that they weren't necessary, the people would blame the Democratic administration—not the Republicans."

Headlines Tell Why U. S. Was Not Ready To Fight

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—Unwittingly the headlines in American newspapers in the last 48 hours have told why America hasn't been better prepared to fight the war in Korea.

The dramatic story of the mass flight of B-29's which dropped 850 tons of bombs over a 26-square-mile area in Korea was immediately given here the same kind of acceptance that has heretofore caused strategic bombing to dominate the whole American defense program.

It is no disparagement of the B-29's or of the decision to send them on this mission to point out that this was a supplementary and psychological operation and by no means a primary role for the heavy bombers.

Terrorizing Effect

The B-29's undoubtedly had a terrorizing effect and probably were very much more useful in striking at army concentrations than in combing over the relatively few targets for strategic bombing operations in North Korea. Yet the mission must be judged by what its immediate and direct effects on enemy operations really were. The next day's dispatches from the United Press correspondent in the war zone said:

"The strength of the sudden communist push from the north indicated that the North Koreans may have shifted some of the four to six divisions they had massed on the west bank of the Naktong River northwest of Waegwan to the northern sector before American B-29's dropped 850 tons of bombs on the west bank yesterday.

"Reconnaissance planes which flew over the blasted and burning 26-square-mile target area northwest of Waegwan today could find no sign of the 40,000 to 60,000 troops believed there."

Then came from the Associated Press correspondent in the same zone a dispatch a little later telling of a drive by 30,000 North Koreans and adding:

"The communists poured out of the area hit by B-29 bombers west of the Naktong River. They jumped off from an area between Waegwan and Kunwi."

What this means, of course, is that high-level bombing did not disorganize the troops of the enemy or prevent them from realigning their divisions in time to make a concentrated attack the next day.

Low-Level Bombing Needed

Strategic bombers were never designed to do such a job. What the United States needed this week on the central Korean front was several units of low-level bombers, the kind that dive close to the target and really see what they are aiming at. These units, often called "tactical aviation," are very scarce nowadays in the United States Army because most of the money and the manpower has been used to develop a program of high-level bombing for use in Europe. The idea that planes could fly across oceans and attack with atom bombs was sold to the American people as an inexpensive substitute for almost everything else, though top-level commanders will deny they intended any such thing. Yet a rereading now of the publicity given strategic bombing these last few years will confirm the impression that the three armed services were not treated as coordinate branches and each given a chance to build up what it needed. That kind of autonomy was lost in the passion for "unification," which has turned out to be an allocation of most of the money to a single concept of strategy—the high-flying bombers of the U. S. Air Force—while the Navy was largely put aside and the Army was deprived of men and equipment, tanks and planes.

In the last 24 hours the American people were told that there has been moved across the Pacific by the Navy since the Korean invasion started a total of 40,000 American army, air force, marines and navy men, 2,000,000 barrels of petroleum, 1,500,000 tons of cargo. In addition a big navy carrier ferried across on its broad deck, 170 planes for the U. S. Air Force and, below deck, 1,000 air force personnel and 1,000 tons of necessary cargo.

The strategic bombers of the U. S. Air Force are vital, the army foot soldier is vital, tactical aviation is vital, the marines are vital, and the navy is vital. The wonder is that anyone in top command—civilian or military—was ever able to say that navies were obsolete, carriers should not be modernized because they

Change In Truman Policy Needed To Use Controls

By MARK SULLIVAN

PRESIDENT Truman will shortly have authority to impose several controls on the country's economy. The authority, as contemplated in discussion in Congress, is to be discretionary. After Mr. Truman gets it, the important thing will be what ones of the controls he chooses to exercise.

Two of the proposed controls are to be over wages and over prices, including prices of food. To control these, in the sense of preventing further rise in them, would run counter to two groups, labor and farmers. These two have had, during the Truman administration, an extraordinary position in the country's economy and in politics. They were the main reliance to whom Mr. Truman appealed in his 1948 campaign for the Presidency, and they have had corresponding deference from his Administration.

Deference Outstanding

This deference was an outstanding part of the picture of the country, as a country and as an economy, at the moment when sudden and utmost strain was put upon it, almost its very capacity to survive challenged, by the outbreak of war in Korea. On that fateful June 25 were two conditions which, both symbolically and actually, went to the heart of the administration of the country's economy and government. If any future historian should write an account of the country's economy as it was during early June—Russian communism hopes the account would be an obituary—he could reasonably stress these two conditions as symbolic.

In North Carolina and elsewhere in the South, where the early crop of potatoes was ready for picking, an immense agency of the Federal government, the Department of Agriculture, was buying millions of bushels—photographs of government-bought potatoes piled in heaps were printed in the June 21 issue of "The Observer" of Raleigh, N. C. The potatoes were bought at prices fixed artificially high by the government, for the purpose of keeping up the price received by farmers and paid by consumers.

To that distortion of the country's economy through deference by government to a group as distinguished from the common interest of all, a companion picture was an exercise of power by organized labor. A strike by railroad workers, after several weeks of unsuccessful negotiations, took effect on the day of the Korean outbreak and for more than a week, during which mobilization of the country's economy for war was urgent, suspended traffic on four western railroads.

Must Turn About

If President Truman is to exercise effectively and justly the authority for controls he is about to be given, he will need to set his face against the two groups to which in the past he has paid deference. The picture as it was on June 25 continues to the present time. The government is still buying food in order to hold it off the market and support prices. Within organized labor, important unions make demands for higher wages with threats of strike to enforce them. During the past 10 days there have been local strikes which crippled public transportation.

Mr. Truman will need to go counter not only to groups to which formerly he has paid deference and from which he has solicited and received political support but he will need to go counter also to an economic theory he has proclaimed. Seven weeks before the Korean crisis, in a speech at Pendleton, Ore., May 10, Mr. Truman exulted over an increase of $100,000,000,00 in the total national income during the past 10 years and set up as a "goal" an increase of another $100,000,000,000 during the next 10 years. A President thus committed to the increase of the national income for the sake of increase will find it embarrassing now to resist increase of prices paid to farmers for their crops and increase of wages to labor.

Besides, regardless of the war and from the broadcast viewpoint, Mr. Truman needs to settle with the country's savers, greater in number than labor and farmers combined. Persons who have savings in bonds, life insurance policies and the like, have seen the purchasing power of their saved dollars practically cut in half during the 10 years of increase in the national income which Mr. Truman exulted over. The effect of past policies of the Truman administration on savings as savings and on thrift as an economic virtue, has been itself a threat to the country's economy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Complacency

I HAVE received a letter from an officer in the Navy during World War H which contains this paragraph:

". . . I think your remarks about the failure of reserve officers to volunteer were too emotional, ill-considered and unfair. If, as our government tells us, this is only a border skirmish, why should we give up, temporarily, what we have tried so hard to re-establish—some degree of personal civilian living that has been denied us to a great degree by those who told us immediately, 'Come down out of the clouds—the war is over.'

"Mind you; I don't say you are not right. I'm only attempting to get you to see that indecision, uncertainty, and confusion among those officers you expect to jump into the front ranks is not necessarily the fault of the individuals themselves. It is, first and foremost, the abject failure of our leaders to declare this crusade for what it is . . . ."

This officer is correct. The administration was as inadequately prepared in its public relations as it was in its diplomacy and its supply for World War III. It rejected the concept of World War III, and, having rejected it, when it actually arrived, Mr. Truman, Mr. Acheson and the others who must speak to the people, did not know what words to use.

Perhaps the best way to answer this lieutenant commander is to say to him that the United States is worth much more than a parcel of politicians.

After all, Mr. Harry Truman is not the United States of America; he is only its president, and presidents come and go. There was once a president called Chester A. Arthur and the United States survived.

In a word, our country is bigger and more important than any man in it, and our civilization is still greater. Both are imperilled at this moment; our country more than ever in its history.

This Korean episode of World War III is the fourth big push of the Slavo-Mongolian hordes against the United States, as the primary country of the Western world. The first big push was the conquest of China by Soviet Russia. This did not involve a great effort as Soviet Russia was assisted by the State Department. Twice they had attempted to destroy American prestige in Europe by pushing us out of Berlin. Twice they failed.

Had the China job not been so easy, it is possible that Soviet Russia would not have gone into Korea. A country that permits itself to be pushed around cannot lead the world. Although Dean Acheson did not understand that, Harry Truman did. That is why he moved so quickly in the Korean situation, although he was unprepared for it.

But there is much more to this. If we get pushed out of Korea, all the Asiatic countries, following their historic characteristics, will say that Stalin is the satrap and they will turn on us with such savagery as we can hardly imagine. You might say that they could never come here. Well, maybe that is so, but they could overrun Europe, all the 800,000,000 of them. They could leave us an island in a Slavo-Mongolian world.

There is the issue and anyone can take it from there. I recall that when Hitler went to war, anyone suggesting that this country had better stay out of a fight between two vicious, malevolent, imperialistic dictators was called an isolationist and was smeared almost as though he were a traitor. Some of the finest Americans, such as Charles Lindbergh, were so abused as isolationists, which was made a bad word.

Today, one of those dictators is out of the way and the other is engaged in isolating us. He may succeed. He certainly will succeed if our people do not quickly recognize that we are not warring against Korea and Koreans but against Russia and Russians. He certainly will succeed unless this country gets down to the business of preserving itself.

It really makes little difference whether Harry Truman is elected or defeated, or whether in 1950 we get a Democratic or a Republican congress. It is too late for that kind of small stuff, which seems to preoccupy Mr. Truman. We have a major war on our hands and now is the time for all true men to come to the aid of their country.

The Future of a Duckling

Three little ducklings; all three have webbed feet that will propel them through the water, fuzzy down that will turn into the best water-proofing Nature can fashion, strong flat bills that will snap food from the water quicker than you can say "Donald Duck."

Nature prepares her little ones for life—except in the case of man.

Consider that youngster who is fascinated by the ducklings. MAYBE he'll gain a clear understanding of right and wrong. MAYBE he'll find courage to meet life's many discouragements. MAYBE he'll discover the Faith that enables a man to build spiritual values into his life.

Those things a child needs most, Nature does not provide. Parents must provide them—by giving him the advantage of thorough religious training in the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Hits Brissie Pitch; Jim Hearn Of Giants Masters Phils, 7-4

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio celebrated his return to New York's lineup by batting the Yankees to a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia tonight. It was DiMaggio's 22nd home run of the season, with one out in the ninth inning, that accounted for Vic Raschi shading southpaw Lou Brissie as both hurlers allowed six hits.

DiMaggio hit Brissie's first pitch, a 400 foot drive into the upper left center field seats for the winning wallop.

It was DiMaggio's only hit of the game and his first round tripper since July 30th. It also was his first RBI since that date.

Successive doubles by Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra got New York off to a 1-0 advantage in the opening inning. Eddie Joost matched the run when he belted Raschi's first pitch for his 15th homerun of the year in the third.

New York came right back to gain a 2-1 lead in the fourth on Berra's second two bagger and Billy Johnson's single.

Ponder Will Vie In Chicago Race

Whirlaway Stakes To Be Run Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Ponder, 1950's, largest winner with $205,550, races for another sizable purse in the $28,650 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park tomorrow.

Calumet Farm also has entered All Blue and Fervent in the field of 15, but Fervent may not start unless the track is "off." However, Warren Wright's thoroughbreds are expected to go postward 8-5 favorites to capture the mile event for the fourth time in five years.

A four horse entry, all trained by Harry Trotsek, also rates. The horses are Mrs. Polly Alexander's Le Var and Laico, Hasty House Farm's Seaward and Tom Gray's Oil Capital, which, however, is a doubtful starter.

Second choice probably will be Walmac Farm's Volcanic, an outstanding turf performer.

Ponder closed the Arlington Park meeting with a triumph in the Rich Arlington Handicap. Previously he had won the Santa Anita Maturity, the San Antonio, Marchbank and Tanforan Handicaps. In the San Antonio he defeated both Citation and the sensational Irish-bred Noor.

Manager Bob "Sparky" Chisholm's Tigers clinched the title in the Dan Division of the Little Baseball League yesterday by defeating the Dodgers at East Side Playground by the score of 11 to 2.

Galen McGregor pitched three-hit ball for the Bengals and notched his 6th win with ease. Bobby Lewis was the "big gun" for the winners with three triple in four trips to the plate. Jim Crawford, formerly of the Dodgers, blasted a homer and two singles. W. Hillegas was the only Dodger to solve McGregor's slants, obtaining two of their three hits. Seven Dodgers were stranded on the hassocks.

Gary Wolford fanned 10 as the Braves upset Norm Gerdeman's Indians, 9-7, for their second win in three starts since Earl Nonneman took over the managerial reins. Tommy Reed hit a homer and Wolford and Jimmie Beck banged out three hits each for the victors. Tommy Cumiskey played a bangup game at second base for the Braves. Irons, who finished on the mound for the Indians, fanned seven and accounted for three of his team's seven bingles.

In the Dapper Division of the league, the Pirates defeated the Yankees, 14-13, and the Red Sox downed the Phillies 6-5 in a night contest. The Phillies played the latter game under protest, charging that Douglas Sullivan, relief pitcher, had twirled five innings on Thursday night and should have had 60 hours rest before taking the mound again. Sullivan pitched the 7th and 8th frames in last night's overtime battle and got credit for the win.

Timely hitting by Apple and Joe Webb produced the three runs in the bottom of the 7th frame that gave the Pirates a hairline decision over the Yankees. Hale of the Yankees knocked a homer and two singles and Apple hit safely four times in five trips for the Pirates.

Wayne Long of the Red Sox homered with one on base and also rapped a two-bagged while Billmeyer, Berkenbaugh and Sullivan garnered two hits each. Diehl of the Phillies hit a two-run homer in the first frame while Hanekamp got the Phillies two other hits. Scores:

Bets Up 23 Per Cent

By C. V. BURNS

The Interstate Baseball League recognizes the team finishing in first place at the end of the regular schedule as the pennant winner, Secretary Roy Clites advises.

This change was written into the by-laws last spring.

A pennant will go to the league's top team in the race ending Labor Day and a trophy will be presented to the winner in the four-team playoff series.

Prior to this year the pennant went to the playoff winner.

Romney, Everett and Centerville are now involved in the battle for the league pennant.

The death of J. G. Burt Treiber, 72, at his home on Columbia street Thursday night, removed from the sports scene one of Cumberland's best baseball fans.

Treiber conducted an electrical shop on North Mechanic street for many years and later was a machinist at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Plant.

"Burt," as he was more familiarly known by his many friends, was active in the Knights of Pythias and was a charter member of Wahaba Temple of the Dokkies.

From Pershing Rohrer, former Cumberlander, and now sports editor of the Athens (Ohio) Messenger, comes information on Pomeroy High School where Jesse E. Riggleman will serve as backfield coach of the football team this fall.

Pomeroy is 28 miles from Athens and is situated on the Ohio river across from Mason, W. Va. Pomeroy is a member of the Southeastern Ohio Athletic League, an eight-school circuit. Other members are Athens, Gallipolis, Jackson, Logan, Nelsonville, Middleport and Wellston. Athens and Middleport are the co-defending champs.

The Panthers of Pomeroy won only one conference grid game last season and that came in the final game on Turkey Day. The team's conference record was one win, five losses and one tie.

"Wilks now is head coach of three sports, namely, football, basketball and baseball and it seems likely that he will relinquish one of the jobs to someone, and I think perhaps Riggleman, but I haven't found out anything officially," Rohrer writes.

Pomeroy is the school which produced "Tippy" Dye, former Ohio State athlete and now head coach at the University of Washington. That's Pomeroy's biggest claim to athletic fame.

Writing about the Baltimore Colts' 30-27 loss at the hands of the Pittsburgh Steelers in last Sunday's exhibition game at Baltimore, John Steadman of the Baltimore News-Post, said:

Jenkins is the strong man from the Mountain City who made his debut with the Colts last season after starring at Darthmouth.

The Colts, incidentally, meet the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game sponsored by the Variety Club Wednesday, August 24, at 8:30 p. m., in Baltimore Stadium.

North Wins, 12-9

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 18. (AP)—Bill Behrens' one-yard plunge for a fourth-period touchdown gave the North a 12-9 triumph over a bigger South eleven tonight in the state's 17th annual all-star schoolboy grid classic.

Behrens' six-pointer with 4:25 left climaxed a 46-yard march that took eight plays. It set up the second straight North triumph, and the Upstaters' third victory of the long series. Three contests have ended in ties.

Gridders To Report

Jimmie Clark, Heafner Tied For Golf Lead

Post 137s At Halfway Mark In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Clayton Heafner, the North Carolina golfer with a bulging waistline, slowed down today and lean Jimmie Clark pulled up even with him at the half-way mark of the Eastern Open.

Clark stroked a sizzling 66 to tie Heafner for 36 holes at 137, seven better than par. Heafner, who set a Mount Pleasant course record of 65 yesterday, couldn't beat par 72 on his second go-round.

A stroke behind the two leaders in the 72-hole tourney were Henry Ransom, the 39-year-old Texan, and Johnny Palmer of Baden, N. C.

Ransom equalled Heafner's record of 65 to post behind his opening 73. Palmer stayed steady at 69 for both rounds, topping it off with a 30-foot putt birdie on the 18th.

The heat was on Heafner from the start of his second round which he began with a four-stroke edge over his nearest rivals. The sensational sub-par scores by Clark and Ransom were in before he had gone a couple of holes.

Freddie Haas Has 139

Among the last to finish in the field of 125, the 225-pound pro from Charlotte just didn't have his par-busting form of yesterday. It was a struggle for him all the way.

Fred Haas, Jr., of Claremont, California, stayed within two strokes of the pace-setters with 139 on rounds of 69 and 70. Another stroke back is Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.

His best and poorest work was on the back nine holes, five of which he birdied. He had a chance to set a new course record of 64 on the 18th with a 10-foot putt for another birdie, but missed.

The tall, Texan's most sensational shot came on the 15th. His second shot found a trap which he measured 50 feet from the pin. He blasted in the cup from there to the roar of the day's biggest gallery.

That feat came on the heels of his only bogey of the round. He tried a driver from the fairway for his second shot on the 525-yard 14th and did poorly. His next iron shot found a trap, so it took him four strokes to make the green and two putts to get down.

Clark, a former public links competitor making his first money circuit, had a chance to equal the record also up to the 17th hole. At that point he too was seven strokes below par.

Then his second shot landed in a trap and two putts put him over par for the hole.

Tourney Ends Sunday

Clark entered the play here with only $1,800 in golf earnings this season. Prizes for the eastern total $16,500 with $2,600 to the winner.

The 60 low scorers for the first 36 holes will stay in to play two more 18-hole rounds on Saturday and Sunday.

Hits Brissie Pitch; Jim Hearn Of Giants Masters Phils, 7-4

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio celebrated his return to New York's lineup by batting the Yankees to a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia tonight. It was DiMaggio's 22nd home run of the season, with one out in the ninth inning, that accounted for Vic Raschi shading southpaw Lou Brissie as both hurlers allowed six hits.

DiMaggio hit Brissie's first pitch, a 400 foot drive into the upper left center field seats for the winning wallop.

It was DiMaggio's only hit of the game and his first round tripper since July 30th. It also was his first RBI since that date.

Successive doubles by Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra got New York off to a 1-0 advantage in the opening inning. Eddie Joost matched the run when he belted Raschi's first pitch for his 15th homerun of the year in the third.

New York came right back to gain a 2-1 lead in the fourth on Berra's second two bagger and Billy Johnson's single.

Whirlaway Stakes To Be Run Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Ponder, 1950's, largest winner with $205,550, races for another sizable purse in the $28,650 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park tomorrow.

Calumet Farm also has entered All Blue and Fervent in the field of 15, but Fervent may not start unless the track is "off." However, Warren Wright's thoroughbreds are expected to go postward 8-5 favorites to capture the mile event for the fourth time in five years.

A four horse entry, all trained by Harry Trotsek, also rates. The horses are Mrs. Polly Alexander's Le Var and Laico, Hasty House Farm's Seaward and Tom Gray's Oil Capital, which, however, is a doubtful starter.

Second choice probably will be Walmac Farm's Volcanic, an outstanding turf performer.

Ponder closed the Arlington Park meeting with a triumph in the Rich Arlington Handicap. Previously he had won the Santa Anita Maturity, the San Antonio, Marchbank and Tanforan Handicaps. In the San Antonio he defeated both Citation and the sensational Irish-bred Noor.

Pirates Beat Chicago Cubs

Chambers Posts 10th Win Of Season, 9-3

CHICAGO, Aug. 18 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates belted Walt Dubiel out of the pitcher's box in the first inning today with a four-run explosion and went on to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9 to 3.

Dubiel walked in the first run after loading the bases and Shortstop Danny O'Connell smacked a single to score two more before the Cub hurler trudged to the showers. Dubiel was charged with a fourth run and the defeat when Danny Murtaugh's outfield fly drove in Bell.

Cliff Chambers pitcher the distance of the Pirates to earn his 10th victory. Johnny Schmitz finished for the Cubs and allowed five hits, five walks and five runs.

Manager Bob "Sparky" Chisholm's Tigers clinched the title in the Dan Division of the Little Baseball League yesterday by defeating the Dodgers at East Side Playground by the score of 11 to 2.

Galen McGregor pitched three-hit ball for the Bengals and notched his 6th win with ease. Bobby Lewis was the "big gun" for the winners with three triple in four trips to the plate. Jim Crawford, formerly of the Dodgers, blasted a homer and two singles. W. Hillegas was the only Dodger to solve McGregor's slants, obtaining two of their three hits. Seven Dodgers were stranded on the hassocks.

Gary Wolford fanned 10 as the Braves upset Norm Gerdeman's Indians, 9-7, for their second win in three starts since Earl Nonneman took over the managerial reins. Tommy Reed hit a homer and Wolford and Jimmie Beck banged out three hits each for the victors. Tommy Cumiskey played a bangup game at second base for the Braves. Irons, who finished on the mound for the Indians, fanned seven and accounted for three of his team's seven bingles.

In the Dapper Division of the league, the Pirates defeated the Yankees, 14-13, and the Red Sox downed the Phillies 6-5 in a night contest. The Phillies played the latter game under protest, charging that Douglas Sullivan, relief pitcher, had twirled five innings on Thursday night and should have had 60 hours rest before taking the mound again. Sullivan pitched the 7th and 8th frames in last night's overtime battle and got credit for the win.

Timely hitting by Apple and Joe Webb produced the three runs in the bottom of the 7th frame that gave the Pirates a hairline decision over the Yankees. Hale of the Yankees knocked a homer and two singles and Apple hit safely four times in five trips for the Pirates.

Wayne Long of the Red Sox homered with one on base and also rapped a two-bagged while Billmeyer, Berkenbaugh and Sullivan garnered two hits each. Diehl of the Phillies hit a two-run homer in the first frame while Hanekamp got the Phillies two other hits. Scores:

By C. V. BURNS

The Interstate Baseball League recognizes the team finishing in first place at the end of the regular schedule as the pennant winner, Secretary Roy Clites advises.

This change was written into the by-laws last spring.

A pennant will go to the league's top team in the race ending Labor Day and a trophy will be presented to the winner in the four-team playoff series.

Prior to this year the pennant went to the playoff winner.

Romney, Everett and Centerville are now involved in the battle for the league pennant.

The death of J. G. Burt Treiber, 72, at his home on Columbia street Thursday night, removed from the sports scene one of Cumberland's best baseball fans.

Treiber conducted an electrical shop on North Mechanic street for many years and later was a machinist at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Plant.

"Burt," as he was more familiarly known by his many friends, was active in the Knights of Pythias and was a charter member of Wahaba Temple of the Dokkies.

From Pershing Rohrer, former Cumberlander, and now sports editor of the Athens (Ohio) Messenger, comes information on Pomeroy High School where Jesse E. Riggleman will serve as backfield coach of the football team this fall.

Pomeroy is 28 miles from Athens and is situated on the Ohio river across from Mason, W. Va. Pomeroy is a member of the Southeastern Ohio Athletic League, an eight-school circuit. Other members are Athens, Gallipolis, Jackson, Logan, Nelsonville, Middleport and Wellston. Athens and Middleport are the co-defending champs.

The Panthers of Pomeroy won only one conference grid game last season and that came in the final game on Turkey Day. The team's conference record was one win, five losses and one tie.

"Wilks now is head coach of three sports, namely, football, basketball and baseball and it seems likely that he will relinquish one of the jobs to someone, and I think perhaps Riggleman, but I haven't found out anything officially," Rohrer writes.

Pomeroy is the school which produced "Tippy" Dye, former Ohio State athlete and now head coach at the University of Washington. That's Pomeroy's biggest claim to athletic fame.

Writing about the Baltimore Colts' 30-27 loss at the hands of the Pittsburgh Steelers in last Sunday's exhibition game at Baltimore, John Steadman of the Baltimore News-Post, said:

Jenkins is the strong man from the Mountain City who made his debut with the Colts last season after starring at Darthmouth.

The Colts, incidentally, meet the Chicago Bears in an exhibition game sponsored by the Variety Club Wednesday, August 24, at 8:30 p. m., in Baltimore Stadium.

Bill Koval who runs the Youngstown team of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League has a quaint description of what it takes to run a Class C ball club.

"You not only have to love baseball but you've got to be a little nutty besides."

"But I don't feel right saying Sam because you were a pro star when I was playing in grade school."

North Wins, 12-9

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 18. (AP)—Bill Behrens' one-yard plunge for a fourth-period touchdown gave the North a 12-9 triumph over a bigger South eleven tonight in the state's 17th annual all-star schoolboy grid classic.

Behrens' six-pointer with 4:25 left climaxed a 46-yard march that took eight plays. It set up the second straight North triumph, and the Upstaters' third victory of the long series. Three contests have ended in ties.

Gridders To Report

Candidates for LaSalle High School's football team will report at the school on Monday at 9 a. m., at which time equipment will be distributed.

The request has been made by Brother Godfrey John, principal.

Post 137s At Halfway Mark In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Clayton Heafner, the North Carolina golfer with a bulging waistline, slowed down today and lean Jimmie Clark pulled up even with him at the half-way mark of the Eastern Open.

Clark stroked a sizzling 66 to tie Heafner for 36 holes at 137, seven better than par. Heafner, who set a Mount Pleasant course record of 65 yesterday, couldn't beat par 72 on his second go-round.

A stroke behind the two leaders in the 72-hole tourney were Henry Ransom, the 39-year-old Texan, and Johnny Palmer of Baden, N. C.

Ransom equalled Heafner's record of 65 to post behind his opening 73. Palmer stayed steady at 69 for both rounds, topping it off with a 30-foot putt birdie on the 18th.

The heat was on Heafner from the start of his second round which he began with a four-stroke edge over his nearest rivals. The sensational sub-par scores by Clark and Ransom were in before he had gone a couple of holes.

Freddie Haas Has 139

Among the last to finish in the field of 125, the 225-pound pro from Charlotte just didn't have his par-busting form of yesterday. It was a struggle for him all the way.

Fred Haas, Jr., of Claremont, California, stayed within two strokes of the pace-setters with 139 on rounds of 69 and 70. Another stroke back is Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.

His best and poorest work was on the back nine holes, five of which he birdied. He had a chance to set a new course record of 64 on the 18th with a 10-foot putt for another birdie, but missed.

The tall, Texan's most sensational shot came on the 15th. His second shot found a trap which he measured 50 feet from the pin. He blasted in the cup from there to the roar of the day's biggest gallery.

That feat came on the heels of his only bogey of the round. He tried a driver from the fairway for his second shot on the 525-yard 14th and did poorly. His next iron shot found a trap, so it took him four strokes to make the green and two putts to get down.

Clark, a former public links competitor making his first money circuit, had a chance to equal the record also up to the 17th hole. At that point he too was seven strokes below par.

Then his second shot landed in a trap and two putts put him over par for the hole.

Tourney Ends Sunday

Clark entered the play here with only $1,800 in golf earnings this season. Prizes for the eastern total $16,500 with $2,600 to the winner.

The 60 low scorers for the first 36 holes will stay in to play two more 18-hole rounds on Saturday and Sunday.

Aussie Doubles Team Tops Flam, Seixas

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug 18 (INS) — Form prevailed today in both lower bracket quarter - final matches in the national tennis doubles tournament at Longwood Cricket Club.

The top foreign-seeded Australian team of Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman, did lose their first set of the tourney, but eventually prevailed over third domestic seeded Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, and Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

Tomorrow they will meet fourth foreign seeded Ken McGregor, Australia, and Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, O., who defeated unseeded Straight Clark of Pasadena, and Harold Burrows, of Charlottesville, Va., 17-15, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Sedgman was broken twice in the first game, the second time for set point. He missed once in the second set, and again in the third set, but held firm in the tight final match set.

Flam was broken six times and Seixas three.

Pontius Pilate Defeats Oedipus, Elkridge, Third

Scores 3rd Straight Victory At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—F. Ambrose Clark's Pontius Pilate kept his slate clean at the current meeting when he raced to victory in the Beverwyck Steeplechase Handicap before 10,835 today. It was his third straight score here, and his initial stakes success.

The big gelding not only won the about two miles event over 13 jumps by 15 lengths under Elwood Carter, but he also set a new track mark of 4:08 2-5. He carried 138 pounds and clipped one and two-fifth seconds from the former standard established earlier in the meeting by The Heir.

Pontius Pilate paid $9.10 straight and earned $6,375. He was beaten in his first start this year, but since then he has just about proved himself to be the top jumper in training. In 1949, he won two of four races.

Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Oedipus, which led the field for about 11 jumps before succumbing to Pontius Pilate's challenge, was second by 13 lengths, while Kent Miller's world's greatest money-winning fencer Elkridge had no trouble taking third from H. A. Dunn's Leche Hombre, the only other to finish.

The Clarks have been having marked success at the meeting. Between them they have won 10 races here, seven for Mrs. Clark and three for Mr. Clark, all with Pontius Pilate.

Kinsman Is Winner

The son of Whirlaway closed in a fashion which brought back memories of his illustrious sire to take the lead in the stretch and gain his first triumph since last winter at Hialeah Park.

Bobanet Stable's Attention Mark turned in a game effort to be second a neck clear of Yogi which runs for the estate of William G. Helis. Attention Mark was in close quarters for the better part of the mile and a sixteenth trip and came on well when clear.

Kinsman was a popular winner with the crowd of 12,707 and paid $4.20, $3.00, and $2.80. Attention Mark paid $6.00, $4.40 and Yogi returned $8.60.

SHADOW START SCORES

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 18 (AP)—Taking over the lead from the front running Pensava shortly after entering the home stretch Mrs. J. M. Branham's Shadow Start scored a half length victory in today's featured Carpenter Purse over a mile and 30 yards at Rockingham Park.

Those of the 6,162 crowd who backed Shadow Start collected payments of $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20. The winner ran the distance in the fair time of 1.41 3-5.

Pensava, third choice in the wagering, paid $4.20 and $3.60. Broken Crown, which finished third, paid $5.00 show.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, vs. Joseph H. Trimble, unmarried, Victor K. Trimble and Virginia Trimble, his wife, Ernest C. Trimble and Mary Trimble, his wife, Jesse Trimble and Suzanna Trimble, his wife, Maryland Trimble, unmarried, Mary E. Trimble, widow, Franklin B. Gillespie and Marion Gillespie, his wife, Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, Lucille T. Lammert and Victor Lammert, her husband, Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, Maud Ryan and Charles Ryan, her husband, Nellie M. Daly and Norman Daly, her husband, Edith Henry and Fred Henry, her husband, Josephine Harden, unmarried, Thomas Harden and Mabel Harden, his wife, Charles Harden and Gladys Harden, his wife, William Harden, unmarried, John Harden and Alice Harden, his wife, Elwood Harden and Mikie Harden, his wife, Bertha Spataro and Frank Spataro, her husband, Robert C. Harden and Anna Harden, his wife, Roman Harden, unmarried, Earl Harden and Beatrice Harden, his wife, and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by DeWarren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Nellie M. Daly is intermarried with Norman Daly and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk.

Pontius Pilate Defeats Oedipus, Elkridge, Third

Scores 3rd Straight Victory At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP)—F. Ambrose Clark's Pontius Pilate kept his slate clean at the current meeting when he raced to victory in the Beverwyck Steeplechase Handicap before 10,835 today. It was his third straight score here, and his initial stakes success.

The big gelding not only won the about two miles event over 13 jumps by 15 lengths under Elwood Carter, but he also set a new track mark of 4:08 2-5. He carried 138 pounds and clipped one and two-fifth seconds from the former standard established earlier in the meeting by The Heir.

Pontius Pilate paid $9.10 straight and earned $6,375. He was beaten in his first start this year, but since then he has just about proved himself to be the top jumper in training. In 1949, he won two of four races.

Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Oedipus, which led the field for about 11 jumps before succumbing to Pontius Pilate's challenge, was second by 13 lengths, while Kent Miller's world's greatest money-winning fencer Elkridge had no trouble taking third from H. A. Dunn's Leche Hombre, the only other to finish.

The Clarks have been having marked success at the meeting. Between them they have won 10 races here, seven for Mrs. Clark and three for Mr. Clark, all with Pontius Pilate.

Kinsman Is Winner

The son of Whirlaway closed in a fashion which brought back memories of his illustrious sire to take the lead in the stretch and gain his first triumph since last winter at Hialeah Park.

Bobanet Stable's Attention Mark turned in a game effort to be second a neck clear of Yogi which runs for the estate of William G. Helis. Attention Mark was in close quarters for the better part of the mile and a sixteenth trip and came on well when clear.

Kinsman was a popular winner with the crowd of 12,707 and paid $4.20, $3.00, and $2.80. Attention Mark paid $6.00, $4.40 and Yogi returned $8.60.

William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, vs. Joseph H. Trimble, unmarried, Victor K. Trimble and Virginia Trimble, his wife, Ernest C. Trimble and Mary Trimble, his wife, Jesse Trimble and Suzanna Trimble, his wife, Maryland Trimble, unmarried, Mary E. Trimble, widow, Franklin B. Gillespie and Marion Gillespie, his wife, Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, Lucille T. Lammert and Victor Lammert, her husband, Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, Maud Ryan and Charles Ryan, her husband, Nellie M. Daly and Norman Daly, her husband, Edith Henry and Fred Henry, her husband, Josephine Harden, unmarried, Thomas Harden and Mabel Harden, his wife, Charles Harden and Gladys Harden, his wife, William Harden, unmarried, John Harden and Alice Harden, his wife, Elwood Harden and Mikie Harden, his wife, Bertha Spataro and Frank Spataro, her husband, Robert C. Harden and Anna Harden, his wife, Roman Harden, unmarried, Earl Harden and Beatrice Harden, his wife, and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by DeWarren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Nellie M. Daly is intermarried with Norman Daly and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

Three Men Held In Garrett Jail

OAKLAND — Three persons who posed as wholesale dealers and who allegedly rooked several Oakland merchants out of more than $3,000 were being held in the county jail this week when they failed to furnish bonds totaling $6,500.

The bonds were set following hearings before Trial Magistrate H. A. Loraditch.

Jerome Wallace, returned Monday from Bellefonte, Pa., by Sherriff J. S. Teats, was held under $2,000 bond on charges of false pretense.

William Wallace was picked up recently on charges of false pretenses sworn out by Cheston Browning and Harve Mussard. Wallace was alleged to have received $2,000 from Browning for the supposed purchase of sugar, and $800 from Mussard for a stock of canned goods. He was under $3,500 bond.

Vernon Hancock, Meadville, Pa., arrested August 6 on a bad check charge, was held under $1,000 bond. He was alleged to have written a check or $300 in favor of William Wallace, who had cashed it at Jim's place on Alder Street. The check was returned marked "no funds."

Elberta Peach Crop Is Ready

ROMNEY. — The Elberta peach crop in the Hampshire county, W. Va., fruit belt is expected to hit the markets within the next 10 days.

The Elbertas this year are numerous, having survived the heavy, killing frost of late spring.

R. L. Sumner, manager of Mountain Fruit Sales, Inc., Romney cooperative, said the last of the Hale Havens, the popular early variety, was picked last week.

Although the Elbertas will be smaller than usual, they will possess excellent carrying qualities and be free of brown rot due to the dry season.

Prices for the Hale Haven ranged from $2.25 to $2.50 per bushel for packed U. S. No. 1's, two inches and up, to $3, to $3.50 per bushel for large fruit, two and a quarter inches and larger.

Tree run peaches sold at a bulk price for $1.75 per bushel, Sumner reported.

PIEDMONT—Mrs. Harriet Miers, who taught school in Beryl for several years, has been assigned to the teaching staff of the Piedmont grade school. Mrs. Miers is the wife of William Miers, coach at Piedmont high school.

Mrs. Margaret Shockey Payne, Keyser, Mrs. Marie Mellor, and Mrs. Helene Poland have also been appointed to the graded school faculty.

The new appointees will succeed Mrs. Pauline Ridder, who recently resigned; Miss Arbutus Allamong, who has been assigned to another school, and Mrs. Margaret Ellen Wolford Chaney, who will join her husband, Richard Chaney, in Washington. Mrs. Freda Becker and James L. McHenry are the other members of the faculty.

Mrs. Irma Dotson, Westernport, who taught last year at Elk Garden, will succeed Mrs. Miers at the Beryl school. She is a graduate of West Virginia University.

Quentin Sayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayers, of New Creek drive, formerly of Piedmont, has been appointed to teach in the sixth grade at Elk Garden. He will also assist as coach of athletics in the junior high school. He is a graduate of Piedmont High School, Potomac State School and Shepherd College. Miss Ida Ruth Price, Piedmont, has been appointed to teach home economics in Howard school, replacing Miss Bolden.

Miss Price is a graduate of West Virginia State College at Bluefield and has been in New York for several years.

Mrs. Edna Williams, who taught at Howard school last year, has resigned to take a position in Kanawha County. The vacancy will be filled before school opens, Haven L. Idleman, county superintendent, expects.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18—(INS)—Vic Damone, now singing at the Chez Paree in Chicago, is going to be disappointed. He is not getting Jane Powell for his leading lady in "An American In Paris."

MGM, delighted over Jane's sophisticated zing in "Royal Wedding" with Fred Astaire, thinks she's outgrown the teen-age romancing she was to have done with Vic.

• — • — •

Jane Powell

"You'll never believe this — but I'm a talent scout. Call me at the Paramount Studio to prove it—then come over for a test immediately!"

Even William Wyler, a taskmaster, isn't always bright and chipper on the set by 9 a. m.—but Olivier is. The case-hardened personnel say they've never known the likes of the British actor for cooperation and hard work. That's what makes him great.

Between scenes, Olivier wants to hear a funny story. His favorite, so far, is about the woman who gets off the train at Albuquerque, and speaks to the Indian. Can't tell you the rest of it.

• — • — •

"I've never looked at myself on television," she says, "and I can't see how the movies would be an improvement!"

It's a kick to watch "The Goldbergs" being filmed almost with television technique. It's easier for all the characters transplanted from the TV show—Jake, Uncle David, Sammy, Rosalie, and "Molly," herself, to work that way.

Walter Hart, brought from the TV show to direct the movie, says of Mrs. Berg, "she's a wonderful person—warm, charming and sympathetic."

Bill Morrow must be seeing Bing at Elko. His girl friend, Pat Dane, was with Dale Robertson, 20th actor, at the Encore.

Patricia Medina was badly shaken up when another car smashed into hers. But after two hours rest, she started her scenes in "The Valentino Story."

L.O.P. says she's heard it as a gag so often she wouldn't have believed it if she hadn't been right there when one of the gatemen at the Del Mar track wouldn't let Boss Joe Schench through without his pass! Even the ending is the same—Joe thinks the man is so conscientious on his job he's giving him a better one.

When Keneth Hopkins opened his new Paris hattery Wednesday, Rita Hayworth acted as hostess for him. They've been friends ever since he did her chapeaux for "Cover Girl."

Lou Costello won't be stuck in Europe as long as he expetced. He cancelled off the Ile De France and got on the Queen Elizabeth putting him home a week sooner. He and Bud Abbott clicked so big at the Palladium, they're invited back every year.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

IF YOU will walk and sit with your chin parallel to the floor, double-trouble will never come to your chin. But if it already las, start keeping your chin in that ne now—and stop crumpling up ver your desk work or dropping our chin to your chest when you're eading in bed.

Remember, too, to stretch your ieck hard in all directions every lay. It takes no time at all, and an be done while you are giving our neck and ears the daily "little rother" soap and water treatment.

To Avoid Double Chin

If you are past tewnty-five, smooth some rich night oil into your neck every night faithfully. Massage it in with gentle strokes from your collar bone upward and over your jaw bone. Start in the center and work your hands outward in opposite directions toward each ear. How many times? Divide your age by three and you'll have a pretty good idea of your number.

There's a special camouflage, cosmetic trick to make any established extra chin recede almost as far as the original jaw line. After applying your regular powder base, smooth a second one, two shades darker than the first, on the underside of your chin and neck. If you already use a very dark foundation, brown eye shadow will do very well. (Don't let this idea scare you. Experts have been using eye shadows to mold facial contours for years.) Blend the foundation or shadow well into the neck behind the ears and along the jaw bone. Then powder the entire face and neck.

Make Your Eyes a Foil

In addition to this makeup device, use another that will give prominence to your eyes to attract attention away from your chin line. Be sure your brows are groomed and pencilled to whatever width and length is nececsary to give them the right proportions for your face.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

N L G A K C C U V Y A H H E I K Y V U S U J G V J G
H S D U V Y C — N L H I C H V.

To Avoid Double Chin

If you are past tewnty - five, smooth some rich night oil into your neck every night faithfully. Massage it in with gentle strokes from your collar bone upward and over your jaw bone. Start in the center and work your hands outward in opposite directions toward each ear. How many times? Divide your age by three and you'll have a pretty good idea of your number.

There's a special camouflage, cosmetic trick to make any established extra chin recede almost as far as the original jaw line. After applying your regular powder base, smooth a second one, two shades darker than the first, on the underside of your chin and neck. If you already use a very dark foundation, brown eye shadow will do very well. (Don't let this idea scare you. Experts have been using eye shadows to mold facial contours for years.) Blend the foundation or shadow well into the neck behind the ears and along the jaw bone. Then powder the entire face and neck.

Make Your Eyes a Foil

In addition to this makeup device, use another that will give prominence to your eyes to attract attention away from your chin line. Be sure your brows are groomed and pencilled to whatever width and length is nececsary to give them the right proportions for your face.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

N L G A K Ç C U V Y A H H E I K Y V U S U J G V J G

North End Wins Handicraft Prize

Christine Matcher of North End was named winner of dress-making competition for children under preschool age. Diane Beard, Pine Avenue, was adjudged best in bead doll competition and Walter Rice, Penn Avenue, the top bracelet maker.

In the 10-11 bracket Gladys Dyer had the best fruit basket; Colleen Neis, Mt. Royal, copper and bracelet; Nancy and Doris Dahl, East Side, beach bag, and Carol Berry, Post Playground, pocketbook.

For those 12 years and older, Jack Brown, Post Playground, was declared the best bracelet maker; Melva Jean Roy, Post Playground, cushion tap; Nancy Diehl, Ridgedale, rug, and Mary Leibrant, North End, belt.

Action Threatened In Road Dispute

W. F. Fitzpatrick charged yesterday before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that County road workers have encroached on his property while changing the location of McKey Street in Cresaptown.

Fitzpatrick threatened court action if the matter is not straightened out. He told the board that county road workers dumped dirt on his property and constructed a wall near his kitchen. He said in both cases the county had encroached on his property.

County Engineer John J. Smith told the board that the road workers had followed a line surveyed and the property lines of Fitzpatrick had also been checked prior to starting the work.

The board also authorized the Juvenile Court to purchase a number of chairs for the waiting room in the court at the Union Street County Building.

The board was informed by an insurance company, with which the county has a group life insurance policy, that the board may continue to carry group life insurance on employes who enter the armed services.

There will be no extra premium but in the event the war emergency reaches greater proportions some extra premiums will be charged, according to the insurer.

The hospitalization part of the policy will also be continued. The county workers who go into service will not be covered, but their dependents will be.

were going in mothballs anyway, and that the marines—with the only trained units of tactical aviation in support of ground troops—should be deprived of their identity, and reduced in size, an that tanks and ground armies were secondary. But that's what has happened within 18 months, beginning in January 1949—and mostly because strategic bombing is exciting, spectacular and theoretically destructive enough to win a war. It hasn't happened that way in Korea.

Market Rounds Out 5-Week Rally With Fresh Advance

Oils, steels, rails, coppers and an assortment of manufacturing issues attracted major support. Most other groups, though, were liberally represented in the plus column.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 79.1, exactly equal to the close on June 23, the Friday before President Truman announced an historic change in our Far Eastern policy.

In the meantime more than $8,000,000,000 has been lost, and regained, in the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 79.1. The industrial group took the largest stride forward. A moderate gain in the rail group lifted it to a peak since 1946. Utilities showed minor improvement.

The Korean fighting, which frontline dispatches described as the most encouraging since the start of the war, was regarded as a bolstering influence.

Possibly even more helpful was another flow of extra or raised dividends and excellent earnings reports. In some cases stocks responded smartly to news directly affecting them.

Standard Oil (NJ) advanced 1⅜ to 82, Sinclair ⅝ to 29⅞, Union Oil of California 1⅝ to 32, Sunray ⅛ to 14¾, Barber Oil 1⅞ to 51⅛, Texas 1⅛ to 73¼, Gulf ⅜ to 72, Warren Petroleum ⅞ to 20¾, and Pure Oil ⅞ to 41¾.

U. S. Steel, the most active stock, gained ⅞ to 38⅜. Other steels up included Republic, Youngstown Sheet, Wheeling, and Colorado Fuel and Iron.

"The Authority on Authorities"

SQUEEZE TO CUT LOSS

NOT ALL fancy plays, like squeezes and coups, are for the purpose of making the contract or producing extra tricks. Just as much skill is required for one which merely prevents the declarer from going down one more trick. It may be that he has reached a contract which is two tricks higher than normal play can score. If his skill enables him to limit his loss to one trick instead of two, he has done his bit.

Very bad abuse of the Blackwood convention by North put South into an impossible contract. The four aces and kings can take only eight tricks, and grand slams usually require establishable long suits. Careful play was required by South to avoid going down two tricks. He built a squeeze which limited his loss to one down.

South won the spade Q lead with the K and could count only eleven tricks with high cards. East's discard on the first trick made a twelfth trick in hearts seem doubtful. Then South went to work. Two hearts brought a discard from West, showing East had five. Four club tricks followed. East's play now exposed his pattern as originally five hearts, three clubs, and no spades, so five diamonds. The squeeze therefore was put on East in the red suits. To provide the needed timing, South gave up the spade 10 to West's J. West returned the diamond 10 to the A. Next South led the heart 10 to the A and laid down the spade A from dummy, which also contained the heart 6 and diamond 8.

East, holding the heart J, couldn't discard it without promoting the 6 which he could see. He therefore had to discard from his diamond Q-J. That enabled South then to lead the diamond 8 to his K to drop the Q, and the 9 took the final trick. South was really a hero on the deal, but his sole reward was going down one instead of two.

* * *

Your Weekend Question

How would you bid a hand consisting of six spades headed by the A-K-Q and seven hearts headed by the A-K-J-10 if your own conventional call of 2-Clubs over the first opponent's 1-Club is jumped to 5-Clubs when it next reaches you?

North End Wins Handicraft Prize

North End was declared the winner of the playground award banner when handicraft awards for the 1950 summer session were announced yesterday by the City Recreation Department.

Christine Matcher of North End was named winner of dress-making competition for children under preschool age. Diane Beard, Pine Avenue, was adjudged best in bead doll competition and Walter Rice, Penn Avenue, the top bracelet maker.

In the 10-11 bracket Gladys Dyer had the best fruit basket; Colleen Neis, Mt. Royal, copper and bracelet; Nancy and Doris Dahl, East Side, beach bag, and Carol Berry, Post Playground, pocketbook.

For those 12 years and older, Jack Brown, Post Playground, was declared the best bracelet maker; Melva Jean Roy, Post Playground, cushion tap; Nancy Diehl, Ridgedale, rug, and Mary Leibrant, North End, belt.

City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey said bronze medals will be given individual winners.

Action Threatened In Road Dispute

W. F. Fitzpatrick charged yesterday before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that County road workers have encroached on his property while changing the location of McKey Street in Cresaptown.

Fitzpatrick threatened court action if the matter is not straightened out. He told the board that county road workers dumped dirt on his property and constructed a wall near his kitchen. He said in both cases the county had encroached on his property.

County Engineer John J. Smith told the board that the road workers had followed a line surveyed and the property lines of Fitzpatrick had also been checked prior to starting the work.

The board also authorized the Juvenile Court to purchase a number of chairs for the waiting room in the court at the Union Street County Building.

The board was informed by an insurance company, with which the county has a group life insurance policy, that the board may continue to carry group life insurance on employes who enter the armed services.

There will be no extra premium but in the event the war emergency reaches greater proportions some extra premiums will be charged, according to the insurer.

The hospitalization part of the policy will also be continued. The county workers who go into service will not be covered, but their dependents will be.

Headlines Tell

were going in mothballs anyway, and that the marines—with the only trained units of tactical aviation in support of ground troops—should be deprived of their identity, and reduced in size, an that tanks and ground armies were secondary. But that's what has happened within 18 months, beginning in January 1949—and mostly because strategic bombing is exciting, spectacular and theoretically destructive enough to win a war. It hasn't happened that way in Korea.

Market Rounds Out 5-Week Rally With Fresh Advance

Oils, steels, rails, coppers and an assortment of manufacturing issues attracted major support. Most other groups, though, were liberally represented in the plus column.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 79.1, exactly equal to the close on June 23, the Friday before President Truman announced an historic change in our Far Eastern policy.

In the meantime more than $8,000,000,000 has been lost, and regained, in the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange.

Business slowed down somewhat after lively trading yesterday. Sales of 1,780,000 shares compared with 2,170,000 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 79.1. The industrial group took the largest stride forward. A moderate gain in the rail group lifted it to a peak since 1946. Utilities showed minor improvement.

The Korean fighting, which frontline dispatches described as the most encouraging since the start of the war, was regarded as a bolstering influence.

Possibly even more helpful was another flow of extra or raised dividends and excellent earnings reports. In some cases stocks responded smartly to news directly affecting them.

Washington once more failed to produce anything which the market regarded as disturbing.

Standard Oil (NJ) advanced 1⅜ to 82, Sinclair ⅝ to 29⅞, Union Oil of California 1⅝ to 32, Sunray ⅛ to 14¾, Barber Oil 1⅞ to 51⅛, Texas 1⅛ to 73¼, Gulf ⅜ to 72, Warren Petroleum ⅞ to 20¾, and Pure Oil ⅞ to 41¾.

U. S. Steel, the most active stock, gained ⅞ to 38⅜. Other steels up included Republic, Youngstown Sheet, Wheeling, and Colorado Fuel and Iron.

SQUEEZE TO CUT LOSS

NOT ALL fancy plays, like squeezes and coups, are for the purpose of making the contract or producing extra tricks. Just as much skill is required for one which merely prevents the declarer from going down one more trick. It may be that he has reached a contract which is two tricks higher than normal play can score. If his skill enables him to limit his loss to one trick instead of two, he has done his bit.

Very bad abuse of the Blackwood convention by North put South into an impossible contract. The four aces and kings can take only eight tricks, and grand slams usually require establishable long suits. Careful play was required by South to avoid going down two tricks. He built a squeeze which limited his loss to one down.

South won the spade Q lead with the K and could count only eleven tricks with high cards. East's discard on the first trick made a twelfth trick in hearts seem doubtful. Then South went to work. Two hearts brought a discard from West, showing East had five. Four club tricks followed. East's play now exposed his pattern as originally five hearts, three clubs, and no spades, so five diamonds. The squeeze therefore was put on East in the red suits. To provide the needed timing, South gave up the spade 10 to West's J. West returned the diamond 10 to the A. Next South led the heart 10 to the A and laid down the spade A from dummy, which also contained the heart 6 and diamond 8.

East, holding the heart J, couldn't discard it without promoting the 6 which he could see. He therefore had to discard from his diamond Q-J. That enabled South then to lead the diamond 8 to his K to drop the Q, and the 9 took the final trick. South was really a hero on the deal, but his sole reward was going down one instead of two.

Your Weekend Question

How would you bid a hand consisting of six spades headed by the A-K-Q and seven hearts headed by the A-K-J-10 if your own conventional call of 2-Clubs over the first opponent's 1-Club is jumped to 5-Clubs when it next reaches you?

$4,700,000 Dial Switch System Set

Long Distance Telephone Service To Be Speeded

A $4,700,000 operator toll dial switching system, an ingenious development to further improve the speed and accuracy of long distance telephone calls, will be cut into service today and tomorrow by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

The installation of the intricate central office equipment, known as the "A4A System," began in September, 1949, and was completed July 8, 1950. Thorough operation tests have been underway since that time, to insure proper functioning of its thousands of electrical devices.

L. M. Smith, general commercial manager of the company, said the new equipment is capable of performing toll office switching to both manual and dial telephone offices.

Smith said that with the new system certain long distance calls, after being dialed by the operator, proceed entirely automatically. All connections are made mechanically, and proper circuits are selected by the equipment in accordance with dialed code.

"About the only clue customers will have as to when the system is in operation will be faster service on certain long distance calls," Smith said.

Will Speed Service

According to Smith, an average of 14 minutes was required in 1920 to put through an out-of-town call. Today, he declared, the average is in the neighborhood of 1.5 minutes and the operator toll dialing system will reduce this interval still further.

At present, the new toll dialing equipment has connected to it some 3,600 circuits. Two thirds of these will be used by Maryland operators in various long distance centers for handling calls in both directions between Maryland communities, including Baltimore, as well as on calls routed through Baltimore to points outside of Maryland.

Climaxing months of planning, the actual cut-over of the equipment will be carried out on a tightly scheduled program from noon today through Sunday.

Service To Continue

Smith pointed out that the cut-over has been arranged in such a way as to avoid any interruptions of regular long distance service. He said a portion of the circuits to each distant city will be taken out of service or made "busy" on a systematic basis, prescheduled at half hour intervals over the cut-over period.

After each group has been made "busy" engineers and technicians in Baltimore and distant city test rooms will perform the physical work necessary to cut the circuits over to dial operations.

When a group is ready for service, Maryland and other telephone company's operators, pre-instructed and trained, will start using the new circuits. The remaining circuits will then be made "busy" and will be cut-over to the new dial method on orderly prescheduled basis.

Smith said installation of the toll dialing system is an important step forward in the company's program to provide its customers with the best telephone service possible. Provision of the new equipment is part of a nation-wide program to gradually extend the toll dialing system throughout the country.

State Editors Hold Joint Meeting Here

Seventy daily and weekly newspaper editors and their wives met here yesterday for the first annual joint meeting of the Maryland Press Association and the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press.

After a get-acquainted luncheon, part of the group visited the Lover's Leap cliff above the city, while others met at the Cumberland Country Club.

A golf tournament tops today's events, followed by a luncheon and a card party for the women visitors. A dinner party at the Country Club will close the two-day affair.

The Times and Alleganian Company, publishers of the Times and the News, are hosts for the outing.

News In Brief

Wastepaper collections will be held Monday, starting at 9 a. m., in the area between Baltimore Street, Baltimore Avenue and Oldtown Road.

A bake sale will be held by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum and Bugle Corps, beginning at 10 a. m. today at 13 Baltimore Street. The corps will give a concert in Constitution Park tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Non-Scheduled Cooling

Children in the vicinity of Greene and Smallwood Streets yesterday were given an non-scheduled treat in the midst of soaring temperatures when a huge tractor trailer truck owned by the Charlton Brothers Transportation Company struck a fire hydrant sending volumes of water into the street. Firemen said a tire on the rear of the truck blew out as the trailer passed the hydrant, causing it to swerve in that direction.

Mills Withdraws From GOP Race For U. S. Senate

Nomination Lies With Markey, Butler

He issued a formal statement announcing his withdrawal, saying "I believe my first duty is to the people of the city of Hagerstown.

"They elected me to a four-year term as their mayor, and I wish to stay on as mayor until the end of that term."

This leaves two Republican candidates in the field bidding for the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Tydings, campaigning for his fifth term in Congress. They are D. John Markey of Frederick County and John M. Butler, a Baltimore attorney.

The report that Mills was withdrawing had been circulating in state political circles for the past several days. But until tonight all Mills would say was "no comment at the moment."

Mills announced his candidacy July 11. His platform appeared to be centered on the national administration's spending policies and the conduct of Sen. Tydings on a Senate sub-committee investigating Communism.

Some observers feel that Mills was shaken politically when Markey, who lost a close race to Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 senate election shifted his candidacy for governor to U. S. Senator.

When informed of Markey's shift, Mills indicated his immediate displeasure by saying he believed the "people of Maryland wanted consistency in their candidates" and paid "tribute to his (Markey's) versatility."

There was no indication, however, that Mills' interest in politics had lessened.

"My interest in and efforts toward the regeneration of the Republican party will continue unabated," his statement said.

"I acknowledge gratefully," he added, "the generous endorsements and offers of support I have received from many quarters. The early endorsement by the state Republican organization and that of the Washington County Central Committee were deeply appreciated. The certain Republican victory in Washington county will be repeated, I trust, throughout our state and nation."

Legion Urges Congress To Pass UMT Law

Convention Differs On Bonus Question

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Maryland's convening American Legionnaires couldn't agree today on whether the state should pay a veterans' bonus, but they soundly backed a Universal Military Training law.

The day's festivities were marred, however, by the collapse of Joseph T. Akin of Salisbury, retiring head of the fun-loving 40 & 8, while Presiding at a luncheon for his group.

He suffered a heart attack after some members of the clan set off some firecrackers. He was taken to his room, where his condition was reported satisfactory.

Akin received a head wound in an ammunition explosion in World War I.

In addition to acting favorably on the UMT proposal, delegates also asked for passage of anti-subversion legislation before Congress adjourns.

These other proposals were unanimously endorsed by the Legionnaires:

1. A plan for Legion participation in the state's Civil Defense program.

2. A demand that political office-holders not be granted automatic deferment from military service.

Earlier, resolutions committeemen got a proposal that Maryland set up a home for aged veterans, their wives or their widows.

Still unopposed for state Legion commander was Lemuel Stevens, retired Naval captain from Snow Hill. Also unopposed was Chester F. Naumowicz, manager of the District of Columbia regional office of the Veterans Administration, candidate for head of the 40 and 8.

Keyser Man Who Defied Police Sent To Prison

Helmick Is Given Two To 10 Years

A Keyser man who earlier this week defied police to "try and get me" was in Mineral County Jail last night awaiting transportation to West Virginia State Prison for a two to 10 year sentence.

Mineral County Circuit Court Judge E. A. See revoked a parole he earlier granted Patrick Helmick, 35, and ordered him sent to Moundsville to begin serving the prison term.

Helmick was arrested at the home of his mother after police broke into the dwelling and ejected him. Attempted to force him out with tear gas failed.

Helmick according to the court order yesterday, was originally sentenced to two to 10 years in the penitentiary at the April term of court on a charge of malicious assault.

Police were summoned to the Helmick home Tuesday on a complaint that the man had assaulted his mother during a dispute over the use of an automobile owned by a brother in service.

Keyser Chief of Police Claude A. Martin and Officer J. R. Haines, who answered the call, said they found Helmick in a bedroom with two beds jammed against the door, only entrance to the room.

Keyser police summoned West Virginia State police after a tear gas bomb failed to bring Helmick out. Trooper W. Frank Bowley forced open the door and went in after Helmick.

Yesterday, charges resulting from Tuesday's incident were not preferred. Judge See revoked the earlier parole and ordered the two to 10 year sentence carried out.

County authorities said Helmick will be transported to Moundsville today.

Extension Of First Street Planned Soon

Unpaved Road Would Go To Maple Street

Work on the extension of First Street is expected to begin within the next few weeks, Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder announced yesterday.

Present plans call for extending the street about 2,100 feet from its present ending at South Street through to Maple Street.

Street Department crews will handle the work which will include grading and necessary fill work, as well as laying the base for the 20-foot driveway.

The road will be cindered but not paved because of insufficient funds in the budget for a permanent type of surface.

Overall cost of the project has not been determined specifically but Mrs. Roeder said the cost will be kept within a "reasonable" limit.

Extension of First Street was among the projects requested recently by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association to provide outlets from Mapleside to the South End.

The work will also include building necessary drainage culverts.

Engineering surveys have been made in preparation for the work, but the road must be staked off and weeds cleared from some sections of the right of way.

Labor To Urge Rent Control Extension Here

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland will be urged to pass an immediate resolution extending rent controls in the city, and Governor Lane will be asked to fill a vacancy on the Rent Control Board, members of the Labor Unity Conference decided at this week's regular meeting.

John Estes, chairman, explains that a vacancy occurred on the Board when William Jones died early this month. He was one of labor's representatives on the control body.

The Labor Unity Conference is submitting three names to Gov. Lane, asking him to select one of them to replace the late Mr. Jones.

Recommended are Edwin C. Hoffman, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Earl L. Snider, representing Local 1874 Celanese Textile Union, and Leo McGann, Bus Drivers Union No. 1110.

The Conference, Estes stated, believes that the Mayor and City Council should take immediate action to extend controls on rents here beyond the December 31 expiration date.

Under existing law, he explained, Cumberland rents will be decontrolled unless the Mayor and City Council passes a resolution extending controls for six months.

Llewellyn Family Reunion August 27

The third annual Llewellyn family reunion will be held at Constitution Park August 27 as a basket picnic.

The refreshment committee will furnish iced tea, plates, cups and silverware. All relatives and friends are invited.

The Weather

Yesterday the weather was hot and still with a high at 88 in Constitution Park and 89 downtown until about 4 p. m. when a nice breeze came up and turned the air considerably cooler. On the West Side a thundershower accompanied the beeeze but the weather man says no rain was recorded in the Park section. Early in the morning, low temperatures were 65 on the Hill and 69 downtown. Late night reading 73. Today will be rather cloudy and not so warm with just a chance of showers—let's keep hoping.

Police Problems On 'Burma Road' To Be Discussed

Meeting With Liquor Board Set Tuesday

Problems encountered by police on Front Street, an area known in law-enforcement circles as "Burma Road," will be "thrashed out" at a meeting Tuesday morning before the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Commissioner of Police John J. Long confirmed the meeting last night and said proprietors of establishments selling alcoholic beverages in that section "have been invited" to the meeting.

The police department, Long explained, has been making an "investigation and study" of conditions in the area and "we will bring them out at the meeting Tuesday."

The Police Commissioner did not define the "problems," but said "I believe they should be brought out at the meeting."

Police sources said four officers, all of whom have done duty in the "Burma Road" section, have been asked to attend the meeting also. Long described it as "following our plan to approach" the situation.

The Police Commissioner said that some time ago he asked the Chief of Police to make an appointment with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board and also "proprietors of 'Burma Road' establishments. We are now going to have that meeting Tuesday and thrash out some of the problems they (police) have been having on 'Burma Road.'"

Long later said he was referring to the Front Street section when he used the words "Burma Road."

Asked about the terminology that would best describe the liquor establishment proprietors' call to the meeting, Long said they were "invited."

The meeting, he said, was the idea of the police department and was called at that department's request. This answer followed a question to determine if the Liquor Board arranged the meeting.

Hundreds View Parade Event

Eighteen volunteer fire companies and four bands took part in a three-mile parade last night in Bowling Green, with hundreds of spectators lining the parade route.

The Bloomington Volunteer Fire Company won three of the six $10 prizes offered to marching units, for the company coming the longest distance, unit with the most men in line of march, and the best drill team.

The parade was a closing feature of the bazaar held this week by the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company.

Leading the parade were "Mr. and Miss Firefighter," Bobby Harvey and Kitty Ann Gerderman, who were named at a baby contest Wednesday night.

Other parade award winners were Mt. Savage Junior Order Band; Fulton Myers American Legion drum and bugle corps, Cumberland; and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company, for the auxiliary having the most marchers.

33rd Cumberland Fair Will Open Here Monday

Exhibits, Entertainment To Surpass Last Year

The thirty-third annual Greater Cumberland Fair will open Monday for a full week, with attractions scheduled for both afternoon and night, according to Harry E. Flook, general manager.

Exhibits have already started to arrive and under rules and regulations of the Fair Association, all exhibits must be in place by Monday at 5 p. m. None can be removed after Friday noon, when animals may be withdrawn. All other exhibits will be held over until Saturday.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said a change has been made in the time of judging since many people are interested in this phase of the Fair activity. Judging will start late in the afternoon and continue through early evening.

Numerous Exhibits

Departments where exhibits will be arranged include Dairy Cattle, R. F. McHenry, superintendent, Harry H. Johnson, Jr., assistant; Beef Cattle, H. J. Barton, assistant; Sheep, McHenry, superintendent; Agriculture, Albert O'Neal, superintendent, George O. Wilson, assistant.

Maude A. Bean and Thelma Allin are supervisors of the Household Department. County Fair Chairmen include Mrs. Chester Robinette and Mrs. Arthur Phillips. Miss Leona M. Phillips has charge of entries.

The department is open to women and girls from any city or state and includes baked products, such as bread, cakes, biscuits, doughnuts, rolls, etc; dairy products, maple products, fruits, fruit butters, dried fruits, jams, jellies, marmalades, preserves, vegetables, pickles and relishes and meats.

The department will feature a special group display of a balanced emergency dinner or supper including five jars of food. This display will be judged on variety, texture, vitamin and mineral content.

In addition to canned or preserved foods, the department will also show sewing, including all types of wearing apparel and household items; needlework of every type and quilts and rugs.

Youth Departments

A children's department and 4-H Girls and 4-H Boys as well as Future Farmers will have a wide variety of exhibits.

Joseph M. Steger, superintendent of the Boys' 4-H Club section, said an excellent exhibition of dairy calves, pigs poultry and produce is being arranged.

James H. House has charge of the Future Farmers show which will feature swine, vegetables and poultry.

In addition, McHenry pointed out, there will be a big poultry show, a pigeon show and a number of other exhibits in variety.

All in all, the Fair's exhibits this year promise to be in broader scope than for many years past, indicating progress in the development of the Cumberland Fair as an annual attraction, he said.

Nicol Drops Out Of Senate Race

Midnight last night was the final date for candidates to withdraw their names from state and county ballots in the September Primary election, and only two changes occurred here.

Patrick F. King, clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors, said Graydon S. Dunlap, who filed as a Democratic candidate for sheriff, also filed for the State Central Committee.

King said he withdrew his name as a State Central Committee candidate and is a candidate for the nomination for sheriff.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said last night the committee may file one or two names and endorse them as party candidates along with those already filed individually.

Annual Model Airplane Meet Set For Sunday At Stadium

The Cumberland Model Airplane Club will hold a gas model airplane flying contest and exhibition at Fort Hill High School stadium tomorrow at 1 p. m.

The event, an annual affair here, is sponsored by the Cumberland Exchange Club in the interest of aviation and as a part of its youth activity program. Harold Clayton is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Lewis Ort, Thomas Shannon, and William Newberry, all members of the club's aeronautical committee.

Events will include speed flying, stunt flying, rat race, demonstrative flying and an attempt will be made to fly a model jet propelled plane.

The show is free and the stadium has been made available through the cooperation of Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, and the County Board of Education.

Model airplane enthusiasts who have not already entered the meet may do so today at club headquarters 106 Henry Street before 6 p. m.

The show will last about three hours, committee members said last night, and plans are made to accommodate a crowd in excess of the 1,500 who attended last year.

$4,700,000 Dial Switch System Set

Long Distance Telephone Service To Be Speeded

A $4,700,000 operator toll dial switching system, an ingenious development to further improve the speed and accuracy of long distance telephone calls, will be cut into service today and tomorrow by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

The installation of the intricate central office equipment, known as the "A4A System," began in September, 1949, and was completed July 8, 1950. Thorough operation tests have been underway since that time, to insure proper functioning of its thousands of electrical devices.

L. M. Smith, general commercial manager of the company, said the new equipment is capable of performing toll office switching to both manual and dial telephone offices.

Smith said that with the new system certain long distance calls, after being dialed by the operator, proceed entirely automatically. All connections are made mechanically, and proper circuits are selected by the equipment in accordance with dialed code.

"About the only clue customers will have as to when the system is in operation will be faster service on certain long distance calls," Smith said.

Will Speed Service

According to Smith, an average of 14 minutes was required in 1920 to put through an out-of-town call. Today, he declared, the average is in the neighborhood of 1.5 minutes and the operator toll dialing system will reduce this interval still further.

At present, the new toll dialing equipment has connected to it some 3,600 circuits. Two thirds of these will be used by Maryland operators in various long distance centers for handling calls in both directions between Maryland communities, including Baltimore, as well as on calls routed through Baltimore to points outside of Maryland.

Climaxing months of planning, the actual cut-over of the equipment will be carried out on a tightly scheduled program from noon today through Sunday.

Service To Continue

Smith pointed out that the cut-over has been arranged in such a way as to avoid any interruptions of regular long distance service. He said a portion of the circuits to each distant city will be taken out of service or made "busy" on a systematic basis, prescheduled at half hour intervals over the cut-over period.

After each group has been made "busy" engineers and technicians in Baltimore and distant city test rooms will perform the physical work necessary to cut the circuits over to dial operations.

When a group is ready for service, Maryland and other telephone company's operators, pre-instructed and trained, will start using the new circuits. The remaining circuits will then be made "busy" and will be cut-over to the new dial method on orderly prescheduled basis.

Smith said installation of the toll dialing system is an important step forward in the company's program to provide its customers with the best telephone service possible. Provision of the new equipment is part of a nation-wide program to gradually extend the toll dialing system throughout the country.

A golf tournament tops today's events, followed by a luncheon and a card party for the women visitors. A dinner party at the Country Club will close the two-day affair.

Non-Scheduled Cooling

Children in the vicinity of Greene and Smallwood Streets yesterday were given an non-scheduled treat in the midst of soaring temperatures when a huge tractor trailer truck owned by the Charlton Brothers Transportation Company struck a fire hydrant sending volumes of water into the street. Firemen said a tire on the rear of the truck blew out as the trailer passed the hydrant, causing it to swerve in that direction.

Mills Withdraws From GOP Race For U. S. Senate

Nomination Lies With Markey, Butler

He issued a formal statement announcing his withdrawal, saying "I believe my first duty is to the people of the city of Hagerstown.

"They elected me to a four-year term as their mayor, and I wish to stay on as mayor until the end of that term."

This leaves two Republican candidates in the field bidding for the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Tydings, campaigning for his fifth term in Congress. They are D. John Markey of Frederick County and John M. Butler, a Baltimore attorney.

The report that Mills was withdrawing had been circulating in state political circles for the past several days. But until tonight all Mills would say was "no comment at the moment."

Mills announced his candidacy July 11. His platform appeared to be centered on the national administration's spending policies and the conduct of Sen. Tydings on a Senate sub-committee investigating Communism.

Some observers feel that Mills was shaken politically when Markey, who lost a close race to Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 senate election shifted his candidacy for governor to U. S. Senator.

When informed of Markey's shift, Mills indicated his immediate displeasure by saying he believed the "people of Maryland wanted consistency in their candidates" and paid "tribute to his (Markey's) versatility."

There was no indication, however, that Mills' interest in politics had lessened.

"My interest in and efforts toward the regeneration of the Republican party will continue unabated," his statement said.

And the announcement showed no bitterness.

"I acknowledge gratefully," he added, "the generous endorsements and offers of support I have received from many quarters. The early endorsement by the state Republican organization and that of the Washington County Central Committee were deeply appreciated. The certain Republican victory in Washington county will be repeated, I trust, throughout our state and nation."

Western Maryland Tracks Replaced

The 700 feet of track torn up on the Western Maryland Railway track at Luke Thursday at 5 a. m. by the derailment of an engine and five cars were back in place yesterday at 4 a. m., railway officials said last night.

Freight trains were delayed as much as six hours by the line tie-up, but passenger trains were re-routed on the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, and lost no time. Schedules were back to normal yesterday.

Legion Urges Congress To Pass UMT Law

Convention Differs On Bonus Question

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Maryland's convening American Legionnaires couldn't agree today on whether the state should pay a veterans' bonus, but they soundly backed a Universal Military Training law.

The day's festivities were marred, however, by the collapse of Joseph T. Akin of Salisbury, retiring head of the fun-loving 40 & 8, while Presiding at a luncheon for his group.

He suffered a heart attack after some members of the clan set off some firecrackers. He was taken to his room, where his condition was reported satisfactory.

Akin received a head wound in an ammunition explosion in World War I.

Joseph A. Cantrel of Bethesda-Chevy Chase Post 105, a past state department commander, urged the convention to reject the proposal.

In addition to acting favorably on the UMT proposal, delegates also asked for passage of anti-subversion legislation before Congress adjourns.

These other proposals were unanimously endorsed by the Legionnaires:

1. A plan for Legion participation in the state's Civil Defense program.
2. A demand that political officeholders not be granted automatic deferment from military service.

Earlier, resolutions committeemen got a proposal that Maryland set up a home for aged veterans, their wives or their widows.

On the schedule tonight was the annual convention parade.

The four-day session winds up tomorrow with election of officers and a memorial service.

Still unopposed for state Legion commander was Lemuel Stevens, retired Naval captain from Snow Hill. Also unopposed was Chester F. Naumowicz, manager of the District of Columbia regional office of the Veterans Administration, candidate for head of the 40 and 8.

Keyser Man Who Defied Police Sent To Prison

Helmick Is Given Two To 10 Years

A Keyser man who earlier this week defied police to "try and get me" was in Mineral County Jail last night awaiting transportation to West Virginia State Prison for a two to 10 year sentence.

Mineral County Circuit Court Judge E. A. See revoked a parole he earlier granted Patrick Helmick, 35, and ordered him sent to Moundsville to begin serving the prison term.

Helmick was arrested at the home of his mother after police broke into the dwelling and ejected him. Attempted to force him out with tear gas failed.

Helmick according to the court order yesterday, was originally sentenced to two to 10 years in the penitentiary at the April term of court on a charge of malicious assault.

Police were summoned to the Helmick home Tuesday on a complaint that the man had assaulted his mother during a dispute over the use of an automobile owned by a brother in service.

Keyser Chief of Police Claude A. Martin and Officer J. R. Haines, who answered the call, said they found Helmick in a bedroom with two beds jammed against the door, only entrance to the room.

Keyser police summoned West Virginia State police after a tear gas bomb failed to bring Helmick out. Trooper W. Frank Bowley forced open the door and went in after Helmick.

Trooper Bowley described the man as "either drunk or crazy" following the incident.

Yesterday, charges resulting from Tuesday's incident were not preferred. Judge See revoked the earlier parole and ordered the two to 10 year sentence carried out.

County authorities said Helmick will be transported to Moundsville today.

Extension Of First Street Planned Soon

Unpaved Road Would Go To Maple Street

Work on the extension of First Street is expected to begin within the next few weeks, Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder announced yesterday.

Present plans call for extending the street about 2,100 feet from its present ending at South Street through to Maple Street.

This would provide a traffic artery from the Mapleside section to the South End.

Street Department crews will handle the work which will include grading and necessary fill work, as well as laying the base for the 20-foot driveway.

The road will be cindered but not paved because of insufficient funds in the budget for a permanent type of surface.

Overall cost of the project has not been determined specifically but Mrs. Roeder said the cost will be kept within a "reasonable" limit.

Extension of First Street was among the projects requested recently by the South Cumberland Business Men's Association to provide outlets from Mapleside to the South End.

The work will also include building necessary drainage culverts.

Engineering surveys have been made in preparation for the work, but the road must be staked off and weeds cleared from some sections of the right of way.

Labor To Urge Rent Control Extension Here

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland will be urged to pass an immediate resolution extending rent controls in the city, and Governor Lane will be asked to fill a vacancy on the Rent Control Board, members of the Labor Unity Conference decided at this week's regular meeting.

John Estes, chairman, explains that a vacancy occurred on the Board when William Jones died early this month. He was one of labor's representatives on the control body.

The Labor Unity Conference is submitting three names to Gov. Lane, asking him to select one of them to replace the late Mr. Jones.

Recommended are Edwin C. Hoffman, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Earl L. Snider, representing Local 1874 Celanese Textile Union, and Leo McGann, Bus Drivers Union No. 1110.

The Conference, Estes stated, believes that the Mayor and City Council should take immediate action to extend controls on rents here beyond the December 31 expiration date.

Under existing law, he explained, Cumberland rents will be decontrolled unless the Mayor and City Council passes a resolution extending controls for six months.

Police Problems On 'Burma Road' To Be Discussed

Meeting With Liquor Board Set Tuesday

Problems encountered by police on Front Street, an area known in law-enforcement circles as "Burma Road," will be "thrashed out" at a meeting Tuesday morning before the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Commissioner of Police John J. Long confirmed the meeting last night and said proprietors of establishments selling alcoholic beverages in that section "have been invited" to the meeting.

The police department, Long explained, has been making an "investigation and study" of conditions in the area and "we will bring them out at the meeting Tuesday."

The Police Commissioner did not define the "problems," but said "I believe they should be brought out at the meeting."

Police sources said four officers, all of whom have done duty in the "Burma Road" section, have been asked to attend the meeting also. Long described it as "following our plan to approach" the situation.

The Police Commissioner said that some time ago he asked the Chief of Police to make an appointment with the Allegany County Liquor Control Board and also "proprietors of 'Burma Road' establishments. We are now going to have that meeting Tuesday and thrash out some of the problems they (police) have been having on 'Burma Road.'"

Long later said he was referring to the Front Street section when he used the words "Burma Road."

Asked about the terminology that would best describe the liquor establishment proprietors' call to the meeting, Long said they were "invited."

The meeting, he said, was the idea of the police department and was called at that department's request. This answer followed a question to determine if the Liquor Board arranged the meeting.

The parade was a closing feature of the bazaar held this week by the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company.

Leading the parade were "Mr. and Miss Firefighter," Bobby Harvey and Kitty Ann Gerderman, who were named at a baby contest Wednesday night.

Other parade award winners were Mt. Savage Junior Order Band; Fulton Myers American Legion drum and bugle corps, Cumberland; and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company, for the auxiliary having the most marchers.

Nicol Drops Out Of Senate Race

Midnight last night was the final date for candidates to withdraw their names from state and county ballots in the September Primary election, and only two changes occurred here.

Patrick F. King, clerk to the Board of Election Supervisors, said Graydon S. Dunlap, who filed as a Democratic candidate for sheriff, also filed for the State Central Committee.

King said he withdrew his name as a State Central Committee candidate and is a candidate for the nomination for sheriff.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said last night the committee may file one or two names and endorse them as party candidates along with those already filed individually.
